

Culture of the Islamic Republic of Pakistan

Chapter # 6

1. Give brief historical background of Pakistani culture .

Ans. Historical Background of Pakistani Culture.

- The modern nation of Pakistan has inherited a very rich cultural and traditional background going back to the Indus Valley Civilization, 2800 BC – 1800 BC.
- The area now forms Pakistan had a distinct cultural identity, even in the remotest past.
- This area invaded and occupied by many different people, including Dravidians, Aryans, Greeks, White Huns, Persian, Arabs, Turks , Afghan , Mongols, and various Eurasian groups.
- The people of Pakistan have closer ethnic affinity with the racial groups settled in the Middle East.
- There is difference in culture among the different ethnic groups in matters such as dresses, food, religion, customs etc.

2. What do you know about Kot Diji?

Ans. Kot Diji

- Kot Diji is in the province of Sindh at about 24 Km from Khairpur.
- Excavation at this site started in Nov. 1955.
- Remains of the city were un-earthed, which showed that city was dated back to 2600 years BC, about 4600 years from today.
- First authentic information about the pre-Harappa settlement of the Indus Valley were acquired from the relics found at Kot Diji.

3. What is the significance of Harappa in the cultural heritage of Pakistan?

Ans. Significance of Harappa

- Harappa located at about 20 km from Sahiwal, a district headquarters in Punjab, 1800 Km from Lahore.
- It lies very Close to the Karachi Peshawar Highway.
- Remains of the city reveal that the city had very developed civic life, modern for its age.
- Civilization of this area defunct about 4000 years ago.

4. What do you know about the ancient city of Mansura?

Ans. Ancient City of Mansura.

- Mansura was the city founded by the Arabs after they invaded Sindh.
- There was a magnificent mosque built in the center of the city.
- Mansura is an Arabic word which literally means “ Success”
- It was said that , the city was founded by Muhammad bin Qasim’s son Omer and named Mansura to commemorate his round of victories.
- Dalur was identified as the site of defunct Mansura city.
- Excavation carried at Dalur between 1920-22 have revealed Arab coins, the remains of a Mosque and certain other

5. Enlist salient characteristics features of the Muslim architect.

Ans. Salient Features of Muslim Architect:

Following are the characteristics of the Muslim architect:

- Openness which symbolizes Muslim broadmindedness, tolerance, and enlightenment.
- Balance and coherence which is the basic principle of Islamic way of life.
- Use of arch, minaret, and dome and the double dome, which is expressive of Muslim aesthetic sense.
- Use of Vertical lines instead of horizontal lines which gives the building an air of loftiness, drive and upward motion.

Additional Questions and MCQs

1. Define culture in the words of T.S Eliot.

Ans. Culture :

According to T.S Eliot,

Culture denotes the living patterns of the people living in a particular area or region. It is reflected through their arts, customs, habits, religion and many other things like this.

2. Describe briefly about Taxila in concern to ancient civilization.

Ans. Taxila in Concern to Ancient Civilization:

- Ruins of historical city of Taxila located at a distance of 16 Km from Islamabad.
- The ruined city was center of the magnificent Gandhara civilization.
- In the days of Ashoka , Taxila emerged as the paramount seat of learning, most modern in its time and unique through the world.
- University of Taxila cater the need of large number of students.
- Buddhism, Surgery, arithmetic, and philosophy were taught there.

3. What do you know about Bhambore.

Ans. Bhambore:

- Bhambore is located at 32 km from Karachi.
- The site is often identified with Debal, the historic Sindh port conquered by Muhammad bin Qasim in 712 AD.
- Ancient relics and a mosque found during digging.
- This was a most ancient mosque discovered in South Asia.
- Devastation of the city was caused by the foreign invasion or by due to the change of course of River Indus

4. What do you know about Bhirmound ?

Ans. Bhirmound

- It is another remarkable site in the chain of Gandhara cities.
- Bhirmound was the part of the Iranian Achaemenian Empire.
- At the time of Alexander's raid city was alive and vibrant.
- Asoka ruled Bhirmound as the viceroy of his father.
- Mauryan ruled the city for three centuries.
- In the year 189 BC the city was conquered by Greeks.

5. What is the significance of Mohan jo Daro in the cultural heritage of Pakistan?

Ans. Significance of Mohan jo Daro

- Moenjodaro is a Sindhi word means Mound of Dead.
- This name was given after unearthing the ruins in the last centuries.
- Moenjodaro and Harappa were the cities of same period and there was much similarity between the two cities.
- The ruins of Moenjodaro covers the area of more than 5 km and lie on the right bank of the River Indus.
- It is located at 320 km from North of Karachi.

6. What do you know about Sawat ?

Ans. Sawat

- Apart of its archeological and historical importance the scenic beauty of Sawat has great importance for tourists.
- “Ora” the city of gardens, was the old headquarters of the valley.
- This was destroyed by the Mahmud of Ghazni nearly a thousand years back and could not be recovered.

Encircle the correct option i.e. A/B/C/D.

- i. Kot Diji is located in the province of Sindh at the distance of about _____ km from Khairpur.
A. 22 B. 24 C. 26 D. 28
- ii. Women have been given _____ % representation in District Government
A. 30 B. 31 C. 33 D. 34
- iii. Life span of the community at Mohenjo-Daro is to be dated 3250 and _____ BC.
A. 2730 B. 2740 C. 2745 D. 2750
- iv. Harappa is situated in the district of _____.
A. Lahore B. Sahiwal C. Taxila D. Sawat
- v. City of _____ was destroyed by the Mahmud of Ghazna.
A. Sawat B. Taxila C. Harappa D. Mansura

Long Answer/Questions

Q1. Define Culture; elaborate its importance in human life.

Ans: Derivation of Culture

The word culture is derived from the Latin root “colere” (to inhabit, to cultivate, or to honour)

The general definition of Culture

In general, it refers to human activity; different definitions of culture reflect different theories for understanding, or criteria or valuing human activity. Anthropologists use the term to refer to the universal human capacity to classify experiences and to encode and communicate them symbolically. They regard this capacity as a defining feature of the genus Homo. Since culture is not innate but learned, people living in different places have different cultures.

Dr. Jameel Jalibi on Culture

“Culture, therefore, connotes the entire range of a society’s make-up such as religion, faith, morals, customs, laws, learning, arts, crafts, hobbies and leisure which a man acquires as a member of society, and whose use and adoption enables the different and sometimes dissimilar individuals and groups to develop common on interests and acquire common appearance and traits.

Culture makes a man capable of distinguishing between uncivilized behaviours and urbanity; thus, raising the arts and crafts to a higher level”.

According to T S Eliot

According to T S Eliot ‘culture’ denotes the living patterns of the people living in a particular area or region. It is reflected in their arts, customs habits, religion, and many other things.

Importance of culture in human life:

Culture is the invisible bond, which ties people together. It refers to the pattern of human activity. The art, literature, language, and religion of a community represent its culture. Our cultural values and beliefs manifest through our lifestyle. Our moral values represent our culture. The importance of culture lies in its close association with the ways of thinking and living. Some of the cultural effects on human beings are:

Different Characteristics:

Human communities inhabiting different areas of the world have distinct characteristics which differentiate them from each other. These characteristics bear the imprint of the historical process they have passed through; and the land, climate, and environment they live in.

ii. Role in the Formation of Nations:

Modern sociologists believe that culture plays a decisive role in the formation of nations and nationalities. In modern political science greater stress is laid on the study of political culture and dynamics, while in the past study of political institutions was considered more important.

iii. Pakistani Nationalism:

The relationship between culture and nationality can be easily understood by the study of the Pakistan Movement. Pakistan was not meant to be a national state, pure and simple. The Muslims of India wanted to establish a state, living under which they would safeguard and promote their culture and civilization. In other words, cultural aspirations of the Indian Muslims gave the birth to Muslim nationalism in India, which later came to be known as “Pakistani Nationalism” and the culture as “Pakistani Culture.”

iv. Maintenance of social relationship:

There would be no group life without culture. Culture regulates the behaviour of the people and satisfies their primary drives i.e. hunger, shelter, and sex, which enable them to maintain group life. People behave the way of society. Culture has provided a number of checks upon irrationally or irresponsibly. It has kept a social relationship intact.

Conclusion:

Culture is the unique possession of man. No one can develop human qualities without culture. It distinguishes the personality of the individual and structure of the group. Culture and customs are the central resources for strengthening unity and harmony in families and communities.

Q2. Give a summary of Toynbee’s finding regarding the culture of our area.

Answer

Arnold Toynbee

Arnold Toynbee is the most eminent of the western historians and his book called “A study of history”, is the most authentic treatise on the history of civilization and the art of historiography. This book is 10 volumes.

Toynbee’s Findings of area

At page 107 and 108 of the first volume of his world-famous book “A Study of History,” Toynbee discusses the history of Indus civilization.

- Mohenjo-Daro Culture delineates Pakistan Culture
- Life span of community at Mohenjo-Daro
- Places and communities in this area
- Sir Johan Marshall did Pioneer work in Indus Civilization
- Indus Civilization extends to Balochistan
- Pakistan culture connected with the remote Past.

Mohenjo-Daro delicate Pakistani culture

The roots of Pakistani culture lie deep in Mohenjo-Daro civilization. The culture of this area of ours dates back to nearly 1700 B.C. when Mohenjo-Daro was the heart of Indus civilization.

Life Span of the community at Mohenjo-Daro

The life span of the community at Mohenjo-Daro is to be dated between 3250 and 2750 BC (in the later period through investigations made with the help of newly devised scientific instruments, it was revealed that this culture was less old than it was estimated by Arnold Toynbee, these findings dated it at 2600 BC. The ancient city of Kot Diji in Sindh is older than Mohenjo-Daro.

Races and Communities in this Area

Some Turks like some Aryas, Crossed the Hind Kush and descended upon South Asia, while other Turks like other Aryas made their way westward as far as Syria. (This incidence manifests the ethnic affinity between the Pakistani people and the races of the Middle East).

Sir John Marshall did Pioneer Work on Indus Civilization

Sir John Marshall is the person who did pioneer work on the Indus Valley Civilization. According to him, there is complete uniformity of culture between Mohenjo-Daro and Harappa, through the cities are located at a distance of nearly 650 km from each other

Indus Civilizations Extends to Balochistan

The domain of this culture extends into Balochistan, but Balochistan was not an important seat of it.

Indus Culture Relates to “Ganges Basin”

“There is no evidence, yet forthcoming for the presence of the Indus Culture in the Ganges Basin.”

We can summarize Toynbee’s findings in the three points:

1. The area that now forms Pakistan had a distinct cultural identity, even in the remotes past.
2. History shows that the territory of Pakistan was culturally linked with the Middle East and not with the Ganges Valley. (now a part of India)
3. The people of Pakistan have a closer ethnic affinity with the racial groups settled in the Middle East.

Q3. Write an essay on ‘Fine Arts in Pakistan’?

Answer

Fine Arts

Aesthetics from all over the world and the critics of arts in all departments of fine arts are attracted to experience and discover the boundless depth and beauty of Pakistani culture. A brief review of Pakistani culture has been attempted in the following lines:

Excavations at Harappa and Mohenjo-Daro

Excavations at Harappa and Mohenjo-Daro have revealed that the people of his land had achieved a level of advancement in the fields of architect and urban planning. They built houses, swimming pools, public baths and market places. These buildings were airy and bright and were provided with the excellent drainage system.

Indus Civilization

People of Harappa Mohenjo-Daro and Gandahra had attained excellence in the art of melting metals and making of ornaments and seals and carving out sculptures. During the Muslim period, the craftsmen attained excellence in the art of making glazed tiles printed with floral and geometrical designs.

Painting

Pakistan had a very rich tradition in different styles of painting. Starting from the anonymous painters of the murals at Butgram (Swat) the tradition enriched itself through the ages; especially notable are miniature paintings of the Mughal period and later the masterpieces of Abdur Rahman Chughtai and Ustad Allah Buksh in the twentieth century AD.

Wood Carving

Wood carving and engraving, making glazed and painted earthenware, engraving and inlay work on brass, copper and alloy utensils and the art of making delicate ornaments, are the specialities Pakistanis excel in and are appreciated throughout the civilized world.

Muslim Calligraphy

Our calligraphists have demonstrated great promise by keeping abreast with the spirit of the modern age and evolving newer modes of expression. Prominent among these are Abdul Majeed Parveen Raqam, Hafiz Yousaf Sadidi, Sayyid Anwar Hussain Nafees Raqam, Khurshid Alam Gohar Raqam, Sadiqain and Aslam Kamal.

Dress Designing/ Needlework

The tradition of making festive, as well as beautiful informal male and female dresses, has been kept alive by the Pakistani craftsmen. Woollen patti (orpattu) of Gilgit and Swat, shawls and gown of Kashmir, Phulkari of the Punjab and the NWFP and Multan, Ajrak and Bandhnu of Sindh are the products liked by the people not only in Pakistan but also outside.

Hand-Knotted Carpets

Our area has a centuries-old tradition of making hand-knotted carpets. Lahore is the oldest centre of carpet making. Carpets made here are exported and appreciated throughout the world. Special varieties of carpets are done in Kashmir, The NWFP, Balochistan and Sindh. These include Namdas and Ghalichas.

Our Festivals

Apart from Eid and religious festivals, melas are celebrated on the birth anniversaries of the Sufi saints, and special seasonal and harvesting occasions. Festivals are more popular in rural areas; they reflect our rural culture and provide recreation to the people who otherwise have not much of it.

Our Games

Wrestling, Kabbaddi, malakhra, volleyball and football are the most favourite sports in our villages. Hockey is our national sport. Pakistan has produced some of the world's finest sportsmen in the field of Hockey, Cricket and Squash.

Q4. What are the cultural characteristics common among different parts of Pakistan?

Answer

Culture

"Culture" can be defined in many different ways. Culture may be defined as behaviour peculiar to human beings, together with material objects used. Culture consists of language, ideas, values, attributes, beliefs, customs, codes, institutions, tools works and arts, religion, law, morality, ceremonies and festivals. Muller's definition of Culture

According to Muller-Layer, Culture can be defined as "Culture is an aggregate means of achievement and progress".

Salient Features of Pakistan Culture

Following are the salient features of Pakistani culture:

- Religious Unity
- Heterogeneous Nature
- Marriage Patterns
- Languages
- Family life
- Simple Life
- Simple Dress

- Spirituality Oriented Society
- Culture Heritage

Religious Unity

Pakistan is a Muslim country and Islam is the official religion. Islam is the religion which is professed and practised by the people of Pakistan.

Heterogeneous Nature

Pakistani culture can be called as “Mixed Culture”. Although the majority of people in Pakistan are Muslims by birth and faith, there is a strong influence of Hindu culture on the present Pakistani culture. The shadows of this influence are quite visible on the marriage ceremonies and festivals like “Basant”. Pakistani society is largely multilingual and multicultural. Religious practices of various faiths are an integral part of everyday life in society.

Marriage Patterns

The marriage ceremonies in Pakistan are very simple. Islam discourages the practice of Dowry. Bride and groom start the new journey of their life with the holy ceremony of Nikah. Display of mehndi, fireworks, extravagant lights, singing and dancing are un-Islamic practices.

Languages

English the official language in Pakistan, but the national language is Urdu, which is widely spoken and understood throughout the country. Punjabi, Pushto, Sindhi, Balochi and Kashmiri are the regional languages.

Family Life

Pakistani society is a “Male Oriented Society” where they are given full protection and great respect. A male member, usually the oldest male member of the group, heads the family. He guides the other members. The traditional family values are highly respected and considered sacred, although urban families have grown into a nuclear family system, owing to the socio-economic constraints imposed by the traditional joint family system.

Simple Life

Social Life is simple. Social customs are traditions reflect Islamic touch: people are very much conscious about their social traditions and feel pride in following them.

Simple Dress

Dress in a Muslim society like Pakistan is designed and intended to cover the human body, as nudity is prohibited in Islam. So, people of Pakistan prefer to wear simple dresses according to their climate. Most rural homes in Pakistan are made of mud or mud-brick, though concrete and fired brick buildings have become more prevalent. Women usually wear a long dupatta or scarf draped around the head and shoulders. Islam value of “Satr-Poshi” is the hallmark of Pakistani dresses.

Spirituality- Oriented Society

Ulema, Mushaikh and Sufi poets occupy highly honoured placed in Pakistani culture.

Culture Heritage

Pakistan has a rich and unique cultural heritage and has actively preserved its established traditions throughout history. Many cultural practices and monuments have been inherited from the rule of Mughal emperors.

Q5. Examine and evaluate the culture of Pakistan concerning Mohenjo-Daro, Taxila and Gandahra.

Mohenjo-Daro

Mohenjo-Daro, literally “mound of the dead”, like Harappa, was a city of the Indus Valley Civilization. It is situated some 80km southwest of modern Sukkur, Sindh, Pakistan. The ruins of Mohenjo-Daro cover an area of more than five km and lie scattered on the right banks of the river Indus. It is located at about 320 km north of Karachi. It was probably built between four and five thousand years ago and was abandoned around 1700 BC, probably due to change of course of the river, which supported the civilization. It was rediscovered in the 1920s by archaeologists.

Mohenjo-Daro is a remarkable construction, considering its antiquity. It has a planned layout based on a grid of streets, with structures constructed of bricks of baked mud, sun-dried bricks and burned wood. At its height, the city probably had around 35,000-40,000 residents. It had an advanced drainage system, a variety of buildings up to two stories high, and an elaborate bath area. It even had a building with an underground furnace, possibly for heated bathing.

The city was successively destroyed and rebuilt at least seven times. Each time, the new cities were built directly on top of the old ones. Flooding by the Indus is thought to have been the cause of destruction.

Taxila

Taxila is an archaeological site, located in the Punjab province of Pakistan, west of the Islamic Capital Territory and Rawalpindi, on the border of the Punjab and NWFP and just of the Grand Trunk Road.

Taxila (then called taksh-shila) was an ancient Buddhist seat of learning, connected across the Khunjerab pass to the Silk Road, attracting students from all over the world. It flourished during the first-fifth centuries AD.

Located at the junction of three major trade routes, it was of considerable economic and strategic importance.

According to the mythical accounts of Jain Mat, this city is million years old. In the days of Ashoka, Taxila emerged as the pyramids of learning, most in its time and unique throughout the world. The University of Taxila quenched the thirst of the students of Buddhism, arithmetic, surgery and philosophy. The UNESCO has listed Taxila as one of the World Heritage Site.

Gandhara

Gandhara is the name of an ancient country in eastern Afghanistan and north-west Pakistan. Gandhara was located mainly on the southern side of Kabul River. In the east, it extended beyond Indus River and included within its boundaries parts of the valley of Kashmir. It is sometimes identified as the antecedent of present-day Kandahar in Afghanistan.

Q6. Why gender equality is essential for the creation of a cultured society?

Answer

Culture

“Gender equity” refers to the existence of equal opportunities and rights between women and men across both private and public spheres, which allow and ensure that they can pursue the life they wish to lead. In most societies, there are clear patterns of women’s and men’s work both in the household and in the wider community. The general pattern is that women have less personal autonomy, fewer resources at their disposal, and limited influence over the decision-making processes that shape their societies and their own lives. This pattern of disparity based on gender is both a human rights and a development issue.

Gender Equity Issues:

For the building of just and equitable society, equality between men and women is the foremost imperative, but unfortunately, in spite of all the efforts made by the Prophets and reformers, the human society has so far failed to achieve this objective. The West, notwithstanding all its professions and high-sounding claims, is in no better position than the East. The western world has exploited the women in the name of emancipation and deprived her natural purity. According to a survey conducted lately in the UK, 98 % of the women expressed an earnest desire to return to their family life but found them helpless because neither the husband nor the father was ready to welcome them back. A lot of the women in the backward and less literate societies are no better than the so-called civilized societies. Women are suffering from several problems in underdeveloped countries i.e.

Men are no Piece of Gold

“There is a Cambodian saying that men are no piece of gold, and women are no piece of cloth.” These two genders are equally important to the venue of life.

Gender disparity in Pakistan

The Western world has exploited women in the name of emancipation and deprived her of her natural purity. According to a survey, 98 percent of women expressed an earnest desire to return to family life but found them helpless because neither the husband nor the father was ready to welcome them back. If we cast a glance at our society, we find our women suffering from several problems.

Different forms of gender Inequality in Pakistan:

The different forms of gender equality in Pakistan are:

- Lesser creature
- Forced Labour
- Honour Killing
- Violence against Women
- Domestic Violence
- Trafficking of Women
- Gender Disparity in the matters of health

- Gender disparity in the matters of Education

Lesser creature

The woman is considered to be a lesser creature than man. Her birth is a burden for the family.

Forced Labor

Women are made to work as peasants and as field labour in our rural areas.

Women in the fudal system

In the fudal system, women are treated like a slave.

Honour Killing

In Pakistan every year, many women are killed in the name of honour. In Sindh, this honour killing has a traditional form, namely Karo kari. Our social system is generally inclined to favour men, a woman is convicted notwithstanding the fallacy of charge levied against her, and woman is even not given a chance to plead innocent in the court of law.

Violence against Women

Violence against women is a fundamental violation of the human right to life, physical safety, self-respect and dignity. It is the manifestation of historically unequal power relations between men and women.

Domestic Violence

Domestic violence is fairly widespread across all classes. It ranges from slapping, hitting and kicking to murder. Since the society, police and law enforcing agencies view domestic violence as a private matter, it goes unnoticed until it takes extreme forms of murder or attempted murder.

Trafficking of Women

Trafficking of women is also on the rise. Foreign women from Afghanistan, Bangladesh and Myanmar are brought to Pakistan and sold.

Gender disparity in the matters of health

Violence against women is also a public health and development issue. As stated in ADBs gender and development policy paper, the relationship between female-focused violence and morality, health care utilization, child survival. AIDS prevention and cost to the judiciary and law enforcement agencies are receiving increasing attention.

Gender disparity in the matters of education

In Pakistan, the female literacy rate is much lower than that of males.

Gender Equity Issues:

For the building of just and equitable society, equality between men and women is the foremost imperative, but unfortunately, in spite of all the efforts made by the Prophets and reformers, the human society has so far failed to achieve this objective. The West, notwithstanding all its professions and high-sounding claims, is in no better position than the East. The western world has exploited the women in the name of emancipation and deprived her natural purity. According to a survey conducted lately in the UK, 98 % of the women expressed an earnest desire to return to their family life but found them helpless because neither the husband nor the father was ready to welcome them back. A lot of the women in the backward and less literate societies are no better than the so-called civilized societies. Women are suffering from several problems in underdeveloped countries i.e.

Conclusion

Pakistan is a Muslim state. In Muslim, state woman has their rights. She has the same responsibilities towards herself, towards Allah the Almighty and other human beings as the male, and will be punished or rewarded in the Hereafter without discrimination towards her female gender.

Q7. Give an account of the rights Islam guaranteed for women.

Answer

In the days before Islam, women were treated like slaves or property. Their consent concerning anything related to their well-being was considered unimportant, to such a degree that was even treated as a party to a marriage contract.

Women and the Greeks

Greeks claimed themselves to be the most cultures and civilized people in the world, yet the status of women in the Greek city-states was no better than slaves. They were not entitled even to the right to vote.

Women and the Hindu religion

Old Hindi scriptures are full of derogatory remarks about women. The slogan of women emancipation, though very attractive resulted in more exploitation and worsening of a lot of women.

Women in the Western World

As late as 1918 the British women were given the right to vote. American women had to wait another ten years before they were enfranchised.

On the other hand, Islam gave women rights equal to men, Islam gave women the following rights:

- Right to be treated fairly
- Right to equality
- Dignity
- Right to Social life
- Right to employment
- Right to the attainment of Knowledge
- Right to property
- Right to the necessities of life
- Right to be consulted with

Right to be treated fairly

The rights of Muslim women were given to us by Allah the Almighty, who is Al-Compassionate, All-Merciful, All-Just, All-Unbiased. All-Knowing and Most wise. The rights, which were granted to women more than 1400 years ago, and were taught by the perfect example of the Prophet Muhammad (PBUH), was given by the one who created us and who alone knows what rights are best for our female natures. Allah the Almighty says in the Quran:

The most basic right of a woman in Islam is the knowledge and recognition that she never has to ask or demand or fight for her rights which are guaranteed to her by Allah the Almighty himself.

Right to equality

Islam considers a woman to be equal to a man as a human being and his partner in this life. Women have been created with a soul of the same nature as men. Allah the Almighty says in the Quran:

“O mankind! Be dutiful to your Lord, Who create you from a single person (Adam), and from him (Adam) He created his wife (Eve), and from them both He created many men and women and fear Allah through whom you demand your mutual (rights), and (do not cut the relations of) the wombs (kinship). Surely Allah is even and All-Watcher over you”.

Dignity

Muslim women are not forbidden from going out in the community, working or visiting relatives and female friends, if there is no objection from the guardian/husband and they are covered and behaved and speak according to Islamic guidelines and, if necessary, escorted by their Mahram (a close male relative). However, a woman's home should be the main base that she works from.

Right to education

In the words of the Prophet Muhammad (PBUH)

“To seek knowledge is obligatory on every Muslim.”

Muslim here meaning male and female Muslim, as women are the twin halves of men. The Prophet (PBUH) also said:

“Whoever follows a way to seek knowledge, Allah will make easy for him a way to paradise”.

A woman in Islam has the right to knowledge and education. Allah the Almighty encourages women to read and keep up the learning process. He also bestows his mercy upon all who seek knowledge and gives them high status.

Right to the attainment of Knowledge

Islam makes it obligatory for both men and women to seek knowledge. So the Muslim women have the full right of attainment of knowledge.

Right to property

Women can earn and own property if they like. It would be their personal property and no father or husband is allowed to deprive them of the right of having the property.

Right to the necessities of life

A woman doesn't need to earn her livelihood. She can't be forced to earn her livelihood. It is the moral duty of the husband to provide his wife with necessities of life.

Women have a complete right over all the necessities of life which man can relish on. The Holy Quran says: Allah has given the one more strength than the other because the men support them from their means

Right to be consulted with

Islam made women respectable enough that men can consult with them. The Holy Prophet (PBUH) took opinion from Hazrat Umme Salma (RA) when the treaty of Hudabia was to be signed. Similarly, Hazarat Umar (RA) consulted with his daughter Hazrat Hafsa (RA) In very important matters of the state. Ummul Momineen Hazrat Ayesha (RA) was held in high esteem by the Sahabas of the Holy Prophet (PBUH) in the matters of Islamic juristic union.

Q8. What strategy has been adopted for women fortification in national affairs under the devolution plan?

Answer

Devolution Plan

The President of Pakistan General Pervez Musharraf envisioned a new political system in which power was to be developed on the common man at the grassroots level and women were to be made an equal partner in sharing power with men. He launched a "Devolution of Power and Responsibility plan."

The woman's participation in the National affairs according to the devolution plan provided that

- Every union council should be comprised of 21 members. Out of these 21. 6 seats will be reserved for women.
- Out of these 6 seats, 2 would be reserved for Kisan females' women working as peasant or agriculture labourers.
- Women will be given 33 percent representation in District Government.
- 60 seats would be reserved for females in the National Assembly.

The allocation of seats under provincial Quota in the legislative assemblies would be as follows

Punjab Assembly	Sindh Assembly	NWFP Assembly	Balochistan Assembly
66	29	22	11

The comparison of the allocation of female seats between the 1973 constitution and the Devolution Plan.

Conclusion

The brief overview shows that a new resolution in the life of Pakistani women has set in, the prospects show that these changes will go long way in improving a lot of Pakistan women concerning safeguarding their social and political rights on one side and ensuring their constructive participation in the task of nation-building on the other.

Q9. Write an essay on "Be Pakistani, Buy Pakistani"

Answer

The economy is the most important factor that plays a vital role in the development of a nation, which is largely based on imports and exports. If a country is able enough to produce goods to complete its own needs then it will have a strong economic base. Underdeveloped countries like Pakistan do not use their own producing goods widely. The phenomenon of using imported and branded goods and neglecting local goods in Pakistan is growing gradually which is resulting in backwardness and economic decline of the country.

Be Pakistani, Buy Pakistani:

History bears that only those nations made real economic progress, which had once decided to adopt the habit of using their indigenous products and had remained religiously committed to this vow. Pakistanis have never adopted the habit of patronizing their national products and perhaps one of the paramount causes of our retarded economic growth. The People of Pakistan are in an immutable habit of using imported goods instead of using locally manufactured items. The consumer decision to buy a particular brand is affected by different factors such as to express the personality, social status etc.

Measures to prevent using of imported goods:

History is evident that only those nations made real progress who at one decided to use their indigenous products and maintain their national identity. Therefore, the following measures should be taken as initial steps to reduce the dependency on imported goods:

1. Abandon the Use of Imported Goods:

The leaders of the public opinion should serve as a role model for the people by publicly announcing to abandon the use of imported goods.

2. Improvement in the quality of Products:

The standard and quality of the local products should be improved and brought at par with the imported goods.

3. Provision of incentives:

It is necessary that tax holidays and other incentives should be provided to local manufacturers to improve the standards of indigenous products.

4. Purchasing of Pakistan-made Products:

Pakistani people, who live outside the country, should buy the products from Pakistani stores, which also contain the products made in Pakistan. They can buy Pakistani made clothes and Pakistani food items. This will help in improving the image of Pakistan in the world.

5. Media Campaigns:

The media should be employed for creating awareness among the people. People should be told that they should 'be Pakistani, buy Pakistani' and that this is the only way to make our nation economically strong and stable.

Recommendations

To realize the dream of "Be Pakistani, Buy Pakistani"

- The leaders should set a role model for the masses.
- The standard of the local products should be raised so that they can be a substitute for high-quality imported goods.
- Incentives should be provided to the local manufacturers.
- Media should create awareness in the people to use homemade articles and to abstain from imported goods.

Conclusion:

Pakistan is a country, which highly depends on trade because the country needs to import a variety of goods to fulfill the increasing demands resulting from its economic recovery and development. Unfortunately, Pakistan's Imports have generally been greater than its exports and it has to face the problem in balance of trade. The government and media should play a vital role to reduce the effect of imported trade and goods on Pakistani people and to export its own goods in the international market. So that Pakistan's standard can be raised in the global world.

Q10. Highlight the social characteristics of Pakistan concerning family life and social customs.

Answer

Social characteristics of Pakistani Culture

The characteristics of Pakistani culture as follows:

- Religious Units
- Marriage Ceremonies

- National Language
- Male oriented society
- Social life
- Simple dress
- Purely Islamic society
- Family system
- Prayers

Religious Unity

Pakistan is a Muslim country and Islam is the official religion. Islam is the religion, which is professed and practised by the people of Pakistan. Pakistani culture can be called as “Mixed Culture”. Although the majority of people in Pakistan are Muslims by birth and faith, there is a strong influence of Hindu culture on the present Pakistani culture.

Marriage ceremonies

The marriage ceremonies in Pakistan are very simple. Islam discourages the practice of Dowry. Bride and groom start the new journey of their life with the holy ceremony of Nikkah. Display of mehndi, fireworks, extravagant lights, singing and dancing are un-Islamic practices.

National Language

English is the official language in Pakistan, but the national language is Urdu, which is widely spoken and understood throughout the country. Punjabi, Pushto, Sindhi, Balochi and Kashmiri are the regional languages.

Male Oriented Society

Pakistani society is a “Male Oriented Society”, where they are given full protection and great respect. He guides the other members. Old people are given positions of prestige, honour and respect in Pakistani culture.

Social Life

Social life is simple. Social customs and traditions reflect Islamic touch: people are very much conscious about their social traditions and feel pride in following them.

Dress is Islamic

Dress in a Muslim society like Pakistan is designed and intended to cover the human body, as nudity is prohibited in Islam. So, people of Pakistan prefer to wear simple dresses according to their climate.

A purely Islamic Society

People of Pakistan are extremely humble simple and Islamic people. Image of Islam portrayed by the terrorists as Islam is to tarnish the name of the Last Religion. In Pakistan, you can see the real image of simple and pure people and understand what the basis of Islam is. Pakistani society runs around the reigns of Islam.

Family system

People in Pakistan are very much linked together by family bonds or by the place where they live or just friendship, especially in Lahore. They live in large families and are very proud of their family background like the British. Such a bond only exists between our people who keep others interests above their interests.

Prayers

The western concept of clubs is so well implemented in the local cultures of the Pakistani People that they are asked to come to community centre Five times a day and that is what is called the Mosque. Where we go to say our prayer five times a day and meet those people who live in the same community and socialize.

Languages of the Islamic Republic of Pakistan

Chapter # 7

7. What was Quaid-e-Azam point of view regarding Pakistan’s national language.

Ans. Quaid-e-Azam Point of View.

The Quaid-e-Azam (RA) had made it clear in very early days after independence:

“But let me make it clear to you that the state language of Pakistan is going to be Urdu and no other Language.”

8. When and where Urdu came into being?

Ans. Origin of Urdu.

- Origin of Urdu can be traced to the advent of Islam in the sub-continent.
- A few centuries after the Prophet ﷺ Muslim conquers from west and north-west starting invading India.
- The soldiers in these armies spoke Arabic, Persian, and Turkish languages.
- Whenever they settled , a grafting between their languages started taking place.
- These mixed languages formed raw material for the language which later came to be known as Urdu.

9. Give the names of the most important 20th century Urdu poets and prose writers.

Ans. Urdu Prose Writer

- Maulana Abul Kalam Azad
- Maulana Ashraf Ali Thanvi
- Maulana Abu-Ala Modudi

Urdu Poets

- Allama Iqbal
- Maulana Altaf Hussain Hali
- Akbar Allah Abadi

10. What are the main literary forms used in Punjabi poetry?

Ans. Literary Forms of Punjabi Poetry

The Punjabi poets expressed themselves through the medium of nazam or the forms close to it, like:

- Kafi
- War
- Tappa
- Dhola
- Doha
- Sathni
- Ghor
- Ghazal
- Afsana
- Novel
- Drama

11. Give the names of five important Punjabi poets.

Ans. Names of Punjabi Poets

- Madhu Lal Hussain
- Sultan Bahu
- Bulhe Shah
- Hafiz Barkhudaar
- Fazal Shah
- Hashim Shah
- Qadir Yar
- Waris Shah
- Khawaja Farid
- Mian Muhammad Buksh

12. Enlist important Sindhi dialects.

Ans. Important Sindhi Dialects

- Literary and formal Sindhi standard is Sahti
- Dialects spoken in lower Sindh and Rajasthan are known as.
lari, katchi, Katthiawari, and Thari
- Dialects of Sindhi spoken in different parts of Baluchistan are.
jogali, gandavi, fikri, lasi, kaichi lori and cheni
- Other famous accents are.
kohistani, siraike and vicholi

13. What do you know about the golden age of Balochi literature?

Ans. Golden Age of Balochi Literature

- Nineteenth century deserves to be called the golden age in history of Balochi literature.
- Kalhora rulers were the great promoters of Balochi letters and literature'
- Persian impact during this period further intensified.
- Mirza Ghulam Muhammad Natiq Makrani is the most eminent poet of this age.
- During this period Leigh, Mayer, Longworth Dames, Jamiat Rai and Hetu Ram collected, compiled and published Balochi ballads and other literary work.

Additional Questions and MCQs

1. Define Culture.

Ans. Culture:

Culture is defined as;

The sum total of the higher achievements of group life or the human products made by particular group of people living in a specific area at the particular period of time.

2. What is meant by Muhawarah?

Ans. Muhawarah:

Muhawarah is a Urdu alternative of the English ‘Idiom’ Muhawarah literally means a set of two or more words that has revolved around for a long period of time and attained a special meaning which does not necessarily conform to the word it is comprised of.

3. What are the different kinds of Balochi poetry?

Ans. Kinds of Balochi poetry:

- Epics; poems about the history pedigree and lineage of the Baloch tribes.
- Narratives of wars that took place between tribes ,poems in the praise of heroes (qasida) and condemnation of the enemy (hajviyat).
- Romantic poems and lyrics ghazals ethical poems and brief poems like lullaby (loli) romantic song (dastangh) and motak etc.
- Elegies (marsia) and long narratives of events in poetry (masnavis)

4. Enlist important Sindhi poets and scholars.

Ans. Sindhi Poets :

1. Shah Abdul Latif Bhitai.
2. Sachal Sarmast

Sindhi Scholars :

1. Mirza Qalich Baig
2. Makhdum M. Hashim

5. Write a note on Historical Background of Pushto language.

Ans. Background of Pushto language:

- Pushto is a language of valiant Pakhtoons settled in the north-western part of Pakistan on the right bank of river Indus and the Hindu Kush mountain range.
- Pushto took birth nearly five thousand years back in the afghans area known as Bakht or Bakhtar.
- It derived its name from its originally known as Bakhtu , this language later come to known as Pushto

Encircle the correct option i.e. A/B/C/D.

- i. Pashtu alphabets are now _____ in number.
A. 43 B. 44 C. 46 D. 48
- ii. Fort William College was established in _____.
A. 1600 B. 1800 C. 1900 D. 1950
- iii. Renowned Pashto writer Akhund Dryuza belongs to _____ phase .
A. 1st B. 2nd C. 3rd D. 4th
- iv. Mulla Waji's _____ is the first book of Urdu prose.
A. Bage-o-Bahar B. Fasana-e Ajaib C. Sub-Ras D. Patta Khana
- v. Balochi poet _____ was Ghalib's contemporary.
A. Mast Tawakli B. Gul Khan Nazeer
C. Mirza Ghulam Muhammad Natiq Makrani D. Mir Chakar
- vi. Tappa is the oldest _____ poetic form.
A. Pastu B. Punjabi C. Balochi D. Sindhi
-

Q1. What role language play regarding cultural integration and the development of human relationship?

Answer

Language

Language is the only media by which one can express his ideas and feelings. It plays a vital role in building the character of an individual as well as a nation. Languages bring closer to each other and it creates a sense of harmony among the people. Language is a means of expressing our thoughts and emotions. Language draws a line of difference between Man and other creatures.

Culture

Culture is defined as the total of the higher achievements of group life, or the human products made by a particular group of people, living in a specific area at a particular period.

The role of language in Cultural Integration

Language is a medium of interaction it makes a social animal. Language is a mirror of our personality. A spoken word can win us either respect or disgrace. Of all human products language has paramount importance. Language is important for the cultural life of a nation of the following grounds:

- Language is a vehicle of expressing emotions.
- Language is a medium for acquiring knowledge.
- Language mirrors society.
- Language is the living history of culture.
- Language and the memory of the nation.
- The reciprocal relationship between culture and society.

- The role of Urdu in the cultural integration of the Muslims of India.
- The role of Urdu in the cultural integration of different ethnic groups of Pakistan.

Language is a vehicle of expressing emotions.

It has through language that people express their feelings, emotions and aspirations and preserve their cultural heritage for their future generations.

Language is a medium of acquiring knowledge

All knowledge is acquired and imparted through language. The language spoken in society bears a very strong impact of the body of knowledge it comes in contact with.

Language mirrors society

Words, syntax idioms, phrasal verbs and other instruments of speech used by speakers of language reflect the society of its origin. So, we can say there is a close affinity between language and culture. Both bear the marks of each other. So, language works as a centripetal force for a nation.

Language is the living history of culture

Language of a society reflects the entire body of the experiences of society. It records the total experiences of society. Also, it transfers these experiences to the coming generations. Language, therefore, is the living history of a nation. In the way, language integrates the culture of a nation.

Language and the memory of the nation

Allama Muhammad Iqbal calls history 'the memory of nation', this memory is kept alive through the medium of language.

The reciprocal relationship between culture and society

Physical and social sciences affect language in turn affects the academic life of the society. Languages of the vibrant and civilized societies are rich in academic tradition and vice versa are uncivilized societies.

The role of Urdu in the cultural integration of the Muslims of India

In United India, Urdu was the symbol of Muslim identity. When the Hindus alienated themselves from Urdu considering it the language of the Muslims, cracks between the two nations started to appear. Thus, Urdu served as a symbol of the Muslim culture and proved a death blow to the magnificent culture based on Hindu Muslim Unity.

The role of Urdu in the cultural integration of different ethnic groups of Pakistan

Pakistani culture is a heterogeneous culture. Here abode people of different ethnic groups. Urdu is serving as a centripetal force to keep the people of Pakistan united, had not Urdu been our centripetal force, the spirit of provincialism had engendered Pakistan's solidarity.

Conclusion

The above discussion shows how language works for the cultural integration of a nation. Keeping this point in view, the Quaid-e-Azam said in clear words that the national language of Pakistan would be Urdu. He said:

"Let me make it clear that the national language of Pakistan is going to be Urdu and no other language. Without one state language, no nation can remain tied up solidly together."

Q2. Why Urdu can be the only national language of Pakistan? Enlist salient features of Urdu Language.

Answer

Characteristics Features of Urdu

Language is the most important aspect of culture. It is the dominant feature in determining nationality or ethnicity and the binding force, which unites people, and makes them distinct from others. Language represents a people's heritage and identity. Urdu is the product of the centuries of cultural interaction between the Hindu and the Muslim communities of India and was identified to be the symbol of Hindu-

Muslim unity, but on a particular juncture of history, the Hindus totally alienated themselves from it. This language difference caused the separation of the two nations.

The National language of Pakistan:

Urdu was a major issue in the Indian Muslims' struggle for national identity. Therefore, Quaid-e-Azam had made it clear in very early days after independence that:

“But let me make it very clear to you that the State language of Pakistan is going to be Urdu and no other language.”

Characteristics of Urdu Language:

The features of Urdu Language are:

1. The resemblance with the regional Languages:

Urdu has a very close resemblance with all the regional languages of Pakistan. Many words used in these languages are common and all these languages are written in the same script.

2. Lingua Franca:

Urdu is recognized as the national language of Pakistan and used as 'lingua franca'. Lingua franca is a language, which serves as a medium of communication. It is spoken and understood by people living in all areas of Pakistan.

3. The symbol of National Unity:

Urdu is the symbol of national unity, it is not the language of any particular region or a specific group of people. It is a common national heritage.

4. Assimilation of words from other Languages:

Urdu has proved itself an instrument of national cohesion because it has a close affinity with all the regional languages of Pakistan. It has assimilated many beautiful words from other languages.

5. Affinity with Other Languages:

Urdu has developed a close affinity with other languages of the Muslim world with the adoption of the Arabic, Persian, and Turkish words. Urdu has also developed a very rich vocabulary due to its unique quality of absorbing and adopting words and phrases from other languages.

6. The Language of Science and Technology:

Urdu has the potential of being developed into a perfect language of science and technology as well as the language of official use.

7. Rich Treasure of Islamic Literature:

In the history of South East Asia, Islam, Pakistan, and Urdu have been so closely related to each other that none of these can be supposed to flourish and prosper independently. Therefore, Urdu has a very rich treasure of Islamic literature. Muslims cannot achieve the ideological objectives of the state unless they give the Urdu a prominent status.

Conclusion:

Language is the only media by which one can express his ideas and feelings. It plays a vital role in building the character of an individual as well as a nation. Urdu is the national language of Pakistan and is known as the symbol of the Muslim nationhood in the world. The Government should take effective measures to promote the Urdu language.

3) Give an account of the stages through which Urdu passed during the process of its formation.

Answer:

The term Urdu derives from a Turkish word “ordu” meaning “camp” or “army.” The Urdu language developed between the Muslim soldiers of the Mughals armies who belonged to various ethnicities like Turks, Arabs, Persians, and Afghans etc. The evolution and development of a language is dependent on the evolution and development of a society where that language is spoken. Various invasions and conquests on a place affect the development of its language. Urdu underwent various stages of development.

History of Urdu Formation:

There are many opinions regarding the formation of Urdu Language by researchers and scholars. In Sayyid Sulaiman Nadavi's opinion, Urdu is a developed form of Sindhi. Hafiz Mahmood Shirani traced its origin to Punjabi. According to Dr. Naseer-ud-Din Hashmi, South India was the first homeland of Urdu. Other linguists believe that the Brij Bhasha spoken in the suburbs of Delhi gave birth to Urdu. It can be said that Urdu did not emanate from a single source; many other factors played a role in its formation.

Formative Phase:

Urdu language formation experienced many phases. Some of these are:

1. Settlement of Arab Traders:

Origin of Urdu language can be traced to the advent of Islam in the subcontinent. Arab settlements existed on the southern shores of India even before the days of Prophet Muhammad S.A.W, a few centuries after the Prophet S.A.W, Muslim conquerors from the west, and northwest started pouring in. The soldiers in these armies spoke Arabic, Persian and Turkish languages. Wherever they settled, a grafting between their languages and the indigenous dialects started taking place. These mixed languages form the raw material for the language, which later came to be known as Urdu.

2. The Contribution of Foreigners:

In the sixteenth and the eighteenth centuries, the British, the French and the new Portuguese settlers and traders enriched the local languages by contributing new words and phrases to it.

3. The Contribution of Local Dialects:

Local dialects of the Punjab, Sindh, and Deccan contributed richly to the formation of Urdu.

4. Tracts wrote by Muslim Preachers:

In South India, the Muslim preachers wrote tracts in a simple to understand popular dialects, and these probably are the first written Urdu words.

5. First Published work of Poetry:

Founder of Hyderabad (Deccan) and the ruler of Golkanda state Muhammad Ali Qutab Shah (1581-1611) is the author of the first published work of poetry (Diwan) in Urdu.

6. First Modern Urdu Poet:

Wali Dakkani is generally held as the first modern Urdu poet because the language used by him is closer to modern Urdu (as compared to Qutab Shah's language) and he also founded a new school in Urdu literature.

7. First Prose Work:

First work in Urdu prose is Mulla Wajhi's "SabRas" which is the translation of a Persian book.

8. Translations of Holy Quran in Urdu:

Literary masterpieces appeared in North India during the same period. In the later period, Urdu was adopted as the language of religious literature. Shah Ismail Shaheed's Taqviatul Iman and Shah Abdul Qadir and Shah Rafi-ud-Din's translations of the Holy Quran are excellent pieces of fluency and easy to understand the Urdu language.

9. Enrichment of the Urdu literature:

The British rulers established Fort William College Calcutta in the year 1800, for the fulfilment of their colonial needs. The college hired the services of the renowned Urdu writers to write books in simple, standard Urdu. These books were taught to the British officers and played an important role in the enrichment of the Urdu literature.

10. Introduction of new Trend in Prose:

In the midst of the nineteenth century, Mirza Asad Ullah Khan Ghalib introduced a new trend in Urdu prose through his simple and forthright style and expressions. In half of the nineteenth century, Sir Sayyad Ahmad Khan and his companions made scrupulous efforts to enrich this tradition. In the same period, Shibli Nomani made valuable additions to the Urdu literature.

11. Production of Religious Literature:

In the twentieth century, religious scholars like Maulana Abul-Kalam Azad, Maulana Ashraf Ali

Thanvi, and Maulana Abul-Ala Modudi produced rich religious literature in Urdu and introduced new trends in prose writing.

12. Replacement of Persian by Urdu:

At the end of the eighteenth century, Urdu had taken the place of Persian as the language of Muslim culture in India.

13. Recognition of Urdu in Civil Courts of British Government:

Urdu was for the first time recognized as the language of civil courts of the British Government.

14. Official and Court Language:

In the state of Hyderabad Deccan, Urdu was adopted as official and the court language.

15. Urdu as the Medium of Instruction:

For the first time, a modern University established at Hyderabad in the year 1920 adopted Urdu as the medium of instruction for a higher level of education.

Conclusion:

Evolution and development of any language is dependent on the evolution and development of a society where that language is spoken. Various invasions and conquests on a place affect the development of its language. Pakistan is a land that attracted many foreign races and empires during the course of its long history. Urdu language as a national language of Pakistan faced many phases in its formation and during the formation; many new dialects and words from other languages were formed into Urdu language.

4) Write a note on Punjabi Language.

Answer: Punjabi Language:

Punjabi is an ancient language spoken in the most populous province of Pakistan. Many experts trace its origin to the ancient Dravidians of Harappa civilization (2500 BC); others relate it with the period of Mahmud of Ghazna, which are approximately 1000 AD.

Themes:

Punjabi poets and prose writers have written on a variety of themes i.e. love, fiqh, folk tales and epics. Generally, Baba Farid-ud-Din Ganj-e-Shakar is known to be the first Punjabi poet. Waris Shah, Fazal Shah, Mian Muhammad, and Khawaja Ghulam Farid are among the most eminent Punjabi poets.

Forms:

Punjabi poetry is comparable to the best of the poetic works rendered in any language of the world. Traditional Punjabi poets expressed themselves through the medium of Nazm (verse) or the forms closely identical to it. These are kafi, war, tappa, dhola, doha, sathni, and ghorī ghazal (ode) was introduced at a comparatively later stage, probably under Urdu influence. The tradition of writing epic poetry, songs of national love and pride is very rich in Punjabi literature. It was only in the first half of the twentieth century that short story, drama, novel and criticism was for the first time introduced in the Punjabi prose. After the creation of Pakistan and after the introduction of television, Punjabi literature has entered into a new era.

Names and Dialects:

The word "Punjabi" was for the first time used by the author of the book Miftah-ul-Fiqh, written in the first half of the seventeenth century. Before that, it was referred to as Multani, Lahori, Jatki, Hindi etc. Alberuni called it 'Al Hindiya.' People in different areas like to call their Punjabi dialect by different names like Saraiki, Hindko, Chhachhi, Hithari, Potohari, Dhanni, Shahpuri, and Majhi etc.

Saraiki Dialect:

Saraiki enjoys a special position due to its delicate, pleasant discreet accent among these dialects. Bahauddin Zakariya University Multan has established a Saraiki Research Centre and Islamia University Bahawalpur is catering master's classes in the language.

Literary Assets:

Sufi saints like Madhu Lal Hussain, Sultan Bahu, Bulhey Shah, Hafiz Barkhudaar, Fazal Shah, Hashim Shah, Qadir Yar, Waris Shah, Khawaja Farid, and Mian Muhammad Bukhsh are the famous Punjabi poets. The history of prose writing in Punjabi is not very long. All ancient fables were composed in verse and the most prominent among these are :

- Heer Ranjha (Waris Shah),
- Sassi Punnun (Hashim Shah)
- Sohni Mahinwal (Fazal Shah),
- Mirza Sahiban (Hafiz Barkhudaar).

Conclusion:

Pakistan is a linguistically diverse country, and Punjabi is only one of many languages that can be found in the country. The Punjabi language is known for its long history of folk literature, which is rich in traditional poetry. Punjabi language gave birth to a number of well-known poets who wrote on all manner of topics, from tragic love stories to the spiritual or historical. Therefore, its literature has gained global recognition, especially Punjabi poetry, which is noted for its meaningful and beautiful verse. The works of a number of Punjabi language poets have been translated into other languages and are read around the world.

5) What do you know about the script and literary works of Sindhi language?

Answer: Sindhi Language

Sindhi is one of the ancient languages of Pakistan. Experts are of the opinion that people used Sindhi as a language of conversation on both sides of the River Indus even two to three thousand years before Christ. After the advent of Islam, Arabic script was adopted for writing Sindhi. Sindhi is the first Indian language the Holy Quran was rendered into. Sindhi speaking people form 12% of the total population of Pakistan. 96 percent Sindhi speaking households are concentrated in the province of Sindh.

Script:

The relics found at Harappa and Mohenjo Daro reveal that the people of the old Indus valley civilization knew the art of writing. Presently, Sindhi script was devised by Abul Hasan Sindhi based on Arabic letters.

Literary Assets:

The Holy Quran was first translated into the Sindhi language in South Asia. Chuck Nama is one of the immortals works of the Sindhi literature. The period between 1050 and 1350 AD is marked with a prolific production of religious literature in the Sindhi language. The preachers of the Ismaili sect played an important role in the progress of Sindhi literature ginan, bait, sortthe, and gatha are the forms they introduced. The important poets and their literary assets in the Sindhi language are:

Shah Abdul Latif Bhitai:

Shah Abdul Latif Bhitai (1689-1752) is admittedly the greatest poet Sindhi has so far produced. His book Shah Jo Risalo is a masterpiece in Sindhi literature. His poetry is known for eloquence, simplicity, flow, and rhythm. The dignity of labour and the higher values of life are his favourite themes. He immortalized the old Sindhi fables with the force of his pen.

Sachal Sarmast:

Sachal Sarmast is another great Sindhi poet who composed in almost the same age, in his nine hundred thousand couplets, he used many other languages side by side with Sindhi, and these were Hindi, Urdu, Saraiki, Punjabi, and Persian. Wahdat-ul-Wajood (Pantheism) is the most favourite of his themes.

Makhdum Muhammad Hashim:

Makhdum Muhammad Hashim (1690-1761) was a religious scholar and prose writer. He wrote about 50 books in Persian and Sindhi. His books were included in the curriculum taught at Al-Azhar University (Cairo), the biggest seat of Islamic learning in the world.

Contemporaries of Makhdum Hashim:

Azizullah and Shah Latif were the contemporaries of Makhdum Muhammad Hashim. He translated the Holy Quran into Sindhi. The period covering the end of the seventeenth and the beginning of the eighteenth century deserves to be called the golden age in the history of Sindhi literature.

Mirza Qalich Baig:

Mirza Qalich Beg (1855-1929) is no doubt the most prominent of the Sindhi scholars who lived in the British period. He wrote about 400 books covering a variety of subjects.

Modern Sindhi Writers:

Among the modern Sindhi writers Sheikh Ayaz, Prof. Karim Bukhsh Nizami and Asad-Ullah Bhutto are the most remarkable. Muhammad Bin Qasim Literary Society is rendering good services to Sindhi language and literature by publishing valuable books on social sciences and literary themes as well as Sindhi renderings of the important books of other languages. A number of institutions working under official patronage have done commendable service by preserving classical Sindhi literary assets in modern forms.

Dialects:

Sindhi spoken in different parts of Rajasthan, Sindh, and Baluchistan is identified with different names. The literary and formal Sindhi standard is sahti. The dialects spoken in the lower Sindh and Rajasthan are known as lari and kachhi. Katthiwari, jogali, gandavi, fikri, Iasi, kaichi, lori, and cheni are the Sindhi dialects used in different parts of Balochistan. Other famous accents are Kohistani, Saraiki, and Vicholi.

Conclusion:

Sindhi literature is the richest and oldest literature in the world. Sindhi became a literary language in the 19th century. The earliest reference to Sindhi literature is contained in the writings of Arab historians. Sindh produced many scholars and poets of Sindhi, Arabic, and Persian languages. Therefore, the poets of this period have enriched the language with mystic, romantic, and epic poetry, which have gained its popularity all over the world.

6) Write a note on Pashto language, literature and poetry.

Answer: Pashto language

Historical Background:

Pashto is the language of the valiant Pakhtoons settled in the northwestern part of Pakistan, on the right bank of the river Indus and the Hindu Kush mountain range. Pashto took birth nearly five thousand years back in the Afghan area, which is known as Bakht or Bakhtar and derived its name from, originally known as Bakhtu. This language later comes to be known as Pashto.

Script:

Pashto was lettered in the Kharosthi script before the arrival of the Muslims in the Sub-Continent. Saifullah replaced the old Pushto script and introduced Arabic script for the Pashto language. He also wrote a book Tazkira-tul-Aulia. Pashto alphabets are 43 in number. Although Pushto was influenced by many foreign languages like Turkish, Pali and Sanskrit, yet these influences did not make any substantial change in its Islamic character. The impacts of Hindu philosophy and mythology are nonexistent in Pashto, which are found very commonly in other languages of Pakistan.

Pashto Literature:

Like most of the languages, the tradition of writing poetry is older than the writing of prose in Pashto literature. No evidence of written prose has been found prior to the nineteenth century. The most ancient Pashto written work so far discovered is "Pata Khazana" written in the half of the eighth century.

Four Phases of Pashto Literature:

The critics divide Pashto literature into four phases, i.e.:

1. First Phase: (between 8th and 15th century AD)

In this phase, the first Pashto poet Amir Crore was born. Qasidas of Gias-ud-Din Bulban and Sher Shah Suri were composed and Bayazid Ansari, a famous poet, lived during this period.

2. Second Phase (between the 16th century and 17th century AD)

Renowned Pashto writer Akhund Daryuza belongs to this age. Living Pashto legends Khushal Khan Khatak and Rahman Baba also composed during this period.

3. Third Phase: (between the 17th century and 18th century AD)

During this period, famous religious scholar Mian Omer and writers like Mullah Abdur Rasheed, Sa'adat Khan, and Qasim Ali Afridi are especially notable.

4. Fourth Phase: (18th century AD to present)

Pashto literature produced during this period is dominated by anti-imperialist sentiments, love of freedom and expression of discontentment and revolt against the oppressive foreign rule. Most notable amongst these freedom-loving poets and writers are Mohammad Akram Khadim, Fazal Mahmood Makhfi, Abdul Kabeer Khan, Gul Badshah, Akbar, Fazal-e-Rahim Saqi, Muhammad Aslam Khan Sharar, Abdul Hakeem Khan, Ahmad Shah Barrister. During 1965, Indo-Pak war Pashto poets and writers produced very effective national literature, especially poetry.

Dialects:

Pashto has three major dialects or accents i.e. northeastern dialect, southwestern dialect and the dialect of Zai tribes.

Forms and Classical Poetry:

Tappa is the oldest Pashto poetic form. Poetry, which was transferred from one generation to another without being recorded in black and white for generations, is found in forms like char baitey, Tobey, badley, and nemkai. Khushal Khan Khatak is held in highest esteem among the Pashto poets. His works are superb pieces of poetry as well as an excellent treatise on the politics of his age. He is a true representative of Pathan national pride, while Rahman Baba generally reflects on themes of purely religious nature. Hameed Baba is another ancient Pashto poet. Ahmad Shah Abdali is one of the leading Pashto poets and founder of modern Afghanistan.

Conclusion:

Pashto has a long history as a literary language and after the creation of Pakistan, Pashto language, and literature started flourishing on modern lines. Pashto has gained its importance and it is now being used as a medium of instruction in the educational institutions in the Tribal areas and NWFP.

7) Write a note on Balochi poetry.

Answer: Balochi poetry

The descent of the Balochi language is traced to the ancient language spoken in South East Asia several thousand years before the birth of Christ. Old Balochi was most probably only a spoken language. Balochi is a member of the Indo-Iranian branch of the Indo-European language family. It is the main language of Balochistan in the province of Pakistan. It is estimated that about 7 million people speak Balochi as their first or second language.

Poetry:

Balochs were divided into clans and tribes a few centuries back and had all the characteristics of the pre-Islamic Arab society. The ancient Balochi literature consisted of folk songs and poems about tribal conflicts and romantic themes. Every Baloch tribe had its own poet who composed exaggerated accounts for young heroes of the tribe, which were known as Qasida. They also condemned the enemy in poems called 'Hajve'. Since Balochs did not know the art of writing and they had no script, the poetry created was not written. It just passed down by word of mouth and has almost been forgotten with the passage of time. Therefore, most of the literature created in that period falls in the category of epic poetry. The linguists believe that Balochi belongs to the family of Aryan languages.

Division of Balochi Poetry:

Balochi poetry can be divided into four kinds, i.e.

1. Epics:

poems about the historical pedigree and lineage of the Baloch tribes.

2. Narratives of Wars:

It took place between the tribes, poems in the praise of heroes (qasidas) and condemnation of the enemy (hajiyyat).

3. Romantic Poetic Forms:

Romantic poems and lyrics, ghazals, ethical poems and brief poems like lullaby (loli) romantic songs (dastangh) etc.

4. Elegies and Narrative Events:

Elegies (marsia) and long narratives of events in poetry (masnavis).

Style:

Balochs living in bare and barren, sun-baked hills have a very fertile and prolific mind. The poetry they produced was simple in form but strong in impact. This gave a faithful description of the Balochi way of life. This arose from the hearts and made a direct appeal to the hearts of the listeners. It made a great portrayal of the events.

Golden Period in the History of Balochi Literature:

Nineteenth-century deserves to be called the golden age in the history of Balochi literature. Kalhora rulers were great patrons of letters and literature and they affected the Balochi literature. The Persian impact during this period further intensified. Mirza Ghulam Muhammad Natiq Makrani is the most eminent poet and a contemporary of Mirza Asad Ullah Khan Ghalib. During this period Leich, Mayer, Longworth Dames, Jamait Rai, and Hetu Recollected compiled and published Baloch ballads and other literary works.

Literary Works:

Meer Chakar and Hammal Rind are the most celebrated of the classical Balochi poets. Hani Shah Murid is an excellent Balochi classic. Sayyed Muhammad Taqi Shah Taib, Mast Tavakkali, and Gul Muhammad Zaib are rated very high amongst the classical Balochi poets. Mir Muhammad 'Anqa a mid-twentieth century poet rendered meritorious services for the cause of Pakistan. Most notable amongst the modern Balochi writers and poets are Muhammad Ramazan, Gul Khan Naseer, and Azad Jamal-ud-Din.

Script:

History of the Balochi script, which is based on Arabic letters, is not very old. Standard Balochi script was finalized after the creation of Pakistan by amending the script already in use.

Development in Balochi Literature:

Balochi literature entered a new phase of development after independence. Balochi script was given its final shape, first Balochi journal was published in 1960. Radio and television played an important role in the promotion of the language. Government patronized Balochi through educational institutions and the Balochi Academy. Poems, short stories, and plays were written in Balochi language. The language is now being taught at all levels of the schools and colleges of the province and the Balochistan University.

National Integration and Prosperity

Chapter # 8

14. Give Laski's definition of nationality.

Ans. Laski's Definition

Among the modern western political scientists Laski is the person who has defined 'Nationality' in clear terms. According to him, the feeling of nationhood is.

"Marks off those who share in it from the rest of mankind"

15. "Solution of the problems of national integration, mine, yours and our role" Comment briefly.

Ans. "Solution of the problems of national integration, mine, yours and our role"

The measures needed to be taken to promote national integration and strengthen national unity can be classified into three broad categories:

- Education and opinion forming.
(Spreading religious education, revival of national spirit, promotion of Islamic culture)
 - Administrative (Patriotic administration)
 - Political (Powerful upper house, Democratic system)
- Problems of national integration can only be solved when we all play an active role.

16. What is the importance of educating our people about Pakistan Ideology?

Ans. Educating People about Pakistan Ideology

- It is very important to educate people about the Pakistan ideology on which Two Nation Theory is based.
- Two Nation theory was the practical programme of enabling people of South East Asia to model their lives on Islamic ideals, in private and public affairs.
- We must make our countryman realize that our existence is directly related with the existence of Pakistan.
- If Pakistan lives, we live, we have no existence independent of our national existence.

17. Signify the role of Urdu with reference to National solidarity.

Ans. Role of Urdu in National Solidarity

- People living in different areas of Pakistan speak different languages.
- All these languages written in the same script and have valuable treasure of prose and poetry.
- Urdu serves as Lingua Franca, a medium of communication between different areas of the country.
- Urdu is not the language of particular region; this is our common national heritage.
- During the days of freedom struggle Urdu emerged as a strong symbol of our national identity.
- Muslims of India rendered their sacrifices for the defence of Urdu. Although for most of them Urdu was not their mother language.

18. Why democratic system of government is essential for the promotion of national integration?

Ans. Democracy and National Integration

- Democratic system creates a sense of responsibility and participation in the people.
- In democratic system people start to love their country and live for it.
- In contrast, dictatorship creates feeling of deprivation among the people, so they alienate themselves from the affairs of the country.
- Feelings of enmity developed among people against the ruling class.
- So to prevent this state of affairs from happening democratic system based on the Islamic ideology should be established.

1. What are Centrifugal Forces in the context of national integration?

Ans. Disintegration (Centrifugal) Forces.

The point of differences, which separate the members of civil society from one another is, called centrifugal forces. These forces act like the centrifugal pump of a tube well or a fountain, which separates a single stream of water flowing in its hose, into numerous parts and spreads it in different directions.

2. What are Centripetal Forces in the context of national integration?

Ans. Integration (Centripetal) Forces

On the contrary, the forces that attract different scattered parts towards one centre and create a sense of unity among the members of a group are called centripetal forces. A nation can survive only if the centripetal forces working within it are more powerful than the centrifugal forces working on its member.

3. Enlist Significant obstacles interposed in the way of National Integration?

Ans. Obstacles interposed in the way of National Integration:

1. Provincialism and Parochialism.
2. Racial and group differences.
3. Feudal system.
4. Illiteracy.
5. Ignorance of the religious and moral values.
6. Negative role of media.

4. What is meant by Bicameral Legislature?

Ans. Bicameral Legislature:

Bicameral legislature means a legislature composed of two houses.

1. Upper house
2. Lower house
5. A bicameral legislature was established for the first time under the 1973 Constitution of the Islamic Republic of Pakistan. The upper house was named Senate. The Lower house or the National Assembly represents the people of Pakistan. The Senate is the house of provinces and all the provinces have been given equal representation in the Senate. This is an important step to dispel the sense of deprivation in small provinces. Now the bigger provinces are not in a position to override or overrule the opinion of the smaller provinces. It is necessary to keep up with these new constitutional securities.

6. How Media plays an important role for Nation building?

Ans. Role of Media:

Print Media as well as electronic media can play an important role in promotion of national spirit and dispelling the negative sentiments of Provincialism and Parochialism by informing the people about the objectives of our freedom struggle, they should infuse in them love for Pakistan and tell us about spiritual, economic and moral benefits our freedom has brought to us.

Encircle the correct option i.e. A/B/C/D.

- i. Our country is a federation that comprises of _____ provinces.
A. 2 B. 3 C. 4 D. 5
- ii. _____ system of government causes damage to national integration.
A. doctoral B. democratic C. parliamentary D. Kingdome
- iii. _____ constitution provides adequate steps for provincial authority.
A. 1948 B. 1956 C. 1962 D. 1963
- iv. _____ define nationality as “feeling of nationhood marks off those who share in it from the rest of mankind”
A. Ibn-e-Khuldun B. Laski C. sir Sayyed D. Allama Iqbal
- v. Which is obstacle in the way of national integration?
A. Provincialism Parochialism B. Linguistic differences and Racial Differences
B. Feudal System and Illiteracy C. All of these
-

Long Questions/ Answers

1) What is national integration, discuss in detail.

Answer:

Nation:

The word 'nation' belongs completely to the modern sphere of ideas of political and philosophical individualism in a modern democracy.

The term 'Nation' is derived from the Latin word "Natio" which means 'birth' or 'race'. Authors have used this word to denote people who have a common ethnic origin.

Burgess defined "Nation" as:

"A population of ethnic unity, inhabiting a territory of geographic unity."

Nationality:

While the concept of 'Nationality' was first defined in distinct terms by the Muslim historiographer and sociologists Ibn-e-Khaldun.

Ibn-e-Khaldun's Definition

He defined Nationality as 'Asabia' and said that:

"the sentiment of nationhood (Asabia) forms the basis of civil life, and the rise and fall of human groups generally depends on this sentiment."

Laski's Definition

Among the modern western political scientists, Laski has defined "Nationality" as:

"The feeling of nationhood marks off those who share in it from the rest of mankind."

Nation and Nationality

This implies that if a particular group of people develops a feeling that they are one among themselves, and the factors that separate them from the rest of humanity. The group of people turns into nationality and taking a step forward, this nationality transforms itself into a nation.

National Integration

National integration is a positive aspect. It describes the togetherness or oneness felt by citizens of a country with regard to citizenship. It is a process of harmony, common identity, and above all national consciousness of a nation.

Benjamin says:

National integration is the "assimilation of the entire people of a country to a common identity."

Importance of National Integration:

The nation is formed when members of any group of people forget their differences and strengthen their bonds of unity.

Disintegration (Centrifugal) Forces.

The point of differences, which separate the members of civil society from one another is, called centrifugal forces. These forces act like the centrifugal pump of a tube well or a fountain, which separates a single stream of water flowing in its hose, into numerous parts and spreads it in different directions.

Integration (Centripetal) Forces

On the contrary, the forces that attract different scattered parts towards one centre and create a sense of unity among the members of a group are called centripetal forces. A nation can survive only if the centripetal forces working within it are more powerful than the centrifugal forces working on its member.

Importance of Integration

The national integration happens if the binding or cementing forces working on its members are more powerful than the disintegrating figures. The tendency of disintegration is developed by the nation when the centrifugal forces start to overpower or dominate the centripetal forces.

Conclusion:

Thus, it can be concluded that national integration may be summed up as a course in which groups of people gradually develop into well-defined and identifiable national groups or communities. However, the nation-forming factors i.e. race, language, geography, religion etc. are not required to achieve the ideal of national integration. Thus, in this way, national integration is the only force with the help of which all types of people live together peacefully and consider themselves members of a single whole.

2) Signify the importance of National solidarity in an Islamic Democratic State.Answer:*Importance of National Solidarity in Islamic State*National Integration:

National integration is to combine and bring together all the people of a country irrespective of their colour, race, religion, caste etc.

Basis of Pakistani Nation

The founders of Pakistan aimed at creating an Islamic democratic state in South East Asia. The people who became a part of Pakistani Nation were different from each other in many respects, they spoke different languages i.e. Urdu, Bengali, Sindhi, Balochi, Punjabi, Pashto, Saraiki, and many others. They did not come of common racial stock and traced their descent to a number of racial groups. Some of them were the descendants of the invaders coming from Central Asia, and others were Arabs, Turks, and indigenous races. Their living patterns, dresses, foods, desert, households, agricultural practices, customs and traditions, poetry, literature and many other things differed from each other. In spite of all their diversity, they decided to form a coherent national group, which is called "Pakistan".

Vision of Quaid-e-Azam

The principles of Pakistani nationalism were proclaimed by Quaid-e-Azam in his speech at Dhaka on 21 March 1948, in which he said;

"You belong to a Nation now, you have now carved out a territory, vast territory, it is all yours; it does not belong to a Punjabi, or a Sindhi, or a Pathan, or a Balochi ... it is yours."

Islam as Binding Force

The strongest reason for this national cohesion was Islam. They were all Muslims, faced one Qibla while offering prayers and the Quran was the common code of life they cherished to follow. The belief in the oneness of Allah (Tauheed) and his Prophet Muhammad S.A.W united them. Their vow was eternal religiously and irrevocable politically.

Conclusion

Islam was the paramount bond that united them and it was so strong that it overcame all the factors that separated them from each other e.g. language, race, culture, geography etc. Thus, it can be concluded that: The people of Pakistan should forget their linguistic, racial, and geographical differences and stand united based on Islamic fraternity.

They should know that they are Muslims and Pakistanis first and all their other identities are subservient to their Islamic identity.

Pakistan's different languages, tribes, clans, customs, and traditions are like the different colors of the picture. Every colour is important in its own place and removing colour from the picture will spoil both the picture and the colour. Therefore, each colour should remain steadfast to its position as a colour and should not try to take the place of the picture.

3) Enlist the obstacles interposed in the way of national integration and cohesion.

Answer:

Countries inhabited by heterogeneous racial and linguistic groups and divided by natural geographical boundaries (mountains and rivers) generally develop centrifugal tendencies among their cultural groups. Pakistan is placed in a similar position and if these tendencies are allowed to grow and flourish without any restraint, it will expose the danger posed by these differences. In order to form a strong and coherent nation, people must be aware of the presence of the disintegrating forces and shall prepare themselves to counter wisely because the elimination of differences in human society is neither possible nor desirable. Human differences cannot be crushed with the brutal state authority in a democratic society but resolved through dialogue, compromise, and mutual understanding. Thus, in order to make a coherent and integrated society, it is needed to create a culture of tolerance, in which people are educated to live amicably.

Problems of National Integration in Pakistan:

There is a crisis of national integration in Pakistan since its formation and it has been subjected to comment by intellectuals in the country. The major obstacles interposed in the way of national integration in Pakistan are:

1. Provincialism and Parochialism:

It is a very big obstacle in the way of our national progress and national integration. Every person loves his/ her province but he/she should not forget that the nation is greater than the province. The inhabitants of one province should not look upon those of another province with hatred and feeling of inferiority.

2. Linguistic Differences:

Language is the connecting link for the people. It is an important means of national unity. Linguistic differences and laxity are becoming the great hurdle in the implementation of the national language Urdu.

3. Racial and group differences:

The growing racial differences in Pakistan have become a matter of concern to its people as it poses a serious threat to its solidarity and territorial integrity. The racial movements sprout in Pakistan from time to time that is damaging to its national unity. The racial problem in Pakistan is indeed an important and intricate issue and must be addressed prudently to avoid unacceptable consequences. Regrettably, no serious efforts have ever been made in Pakistan to create solidarity among the several disparate ethnic groups. As a result, the hopes of making the country a unified Muslim State, nurtured by its founding fathers, have turned out to be illusory.

4. Economic Disparities:

Pakistan's economic system is very corrupted which generates income inequalities. It makes the rich the richer and the poor the poorer. It strengthens the rich, the elites, who come of the privileged class. While it rather weakens the poor who just earn their physical existence. Therefore, economic disparity has weakened the organs of national integration in the country.

5. Political Instability:

Since achieving independence in 1947, Pakistan has had a checkered constitutional history reflected not only in the country's political instability but also in the relative immaturity of its legislative institutions. Frequent military interventions on the one hand and endemic violence and corruption in public life on the other have stunted the growth of a true parliamentary system. This has affected the state machinery and distorted the public approach towards collective interest. Long periods of undemocratic rule, creates discontentment among the deprived classes of the people.

6. Bureaucrat Setup:

There is a direct relationship between bureaucracy and national integration in Pakistan. Pakistan had inherited its bureaucrat setup from British. After independence people are struggling to achieve their objectives but bureaucracy in its pursuit of power has contrived to keep the people divided. Autocratic behavior of bureaucracy is a hurdle in national integration because the bureaucracy is looked at by the people as the representative of some special classes and areas of the country.

7. Feudal system:

Feudalism is a great challenge to national solidarity in Pakistan as feudalists hold over their serfs and have a greater stake in the status quo. They always remain politically active in decision making regarding the common masses due to large holding and wealth. Thus, the power continues to flow from a feudalistic order of the society rather than a broad-based popular public support.

8. Illiteracy:

Education is a powerful means of bringing about national integration and illiteracy is not less than a curse for a society. Education has been the most neglected sector in Pakistan. This is a fact that 50% of children do not complete their primary education. Uneducated adults are the burden on national exchequer. Economics prospers in an educated society. On the contrary, an illiterate society closes the doors of prosperity. Without the active cooperation of education, we shall not be able to defend the structure of the nation.

9. Ignorance of religious and moral values:

The religious ideology is the basis of an Islamic state and it is a tool for nation building. Pakistan was built on Islamic and moral values but unfortunately, the people of Pakistan are now impressed by Western culture, and they have forgotten their religious and moral values. This is causing great damage to the national solidarity of Pakistan.

10. The negative role of the media:

The growth of electronic media over the past few decades is very rapid in Pakistan. The media can affect public opinion in a significant manner. In Pakistan, the national integration and cohesion is indeed a serious issue, which needs to be analyzed. The electronic media has touched every sphere of the human aspect.

11. Poverty:

Poverty is the mother of all evils which is the root cause of economic and cultural instability. Inequitable distribution of wealth, the difference between the living standards of the people of different areas of the country is making life miserable. Despite being an agricultural country, Pakistan is still facing food shortage. People are unable to make their both ends meet.

Conclusion:

Pakistan has a traditional society, which is full of several kinds of inequalities, and various kinds of prejudices and discrimination based on caste, creed, race, tribe, wealth language etc. Therefore, for strengthening the process of national integration, it is necessary to develop a system at national level, which has the potential to provide a sense of satisfaction to all regional subsystems.

4) What sort of measures can be adopted for the promotion of national solidarity by way of education and opinion forming?

Answer:

Education and opinion forming:

Education is critical for achieving environmental and ethical awareness, values and attitudes, skills and behaviour consistent for national integration. The education and opinion forming measures needed to be taken in order to promote national integration and strengthen national unity, i.e.

i. Spreading Religious Education:

The religious sentiment of the people of SouthEast Asia served as a driving force behind the creation of Pakistan. Pakistan was achieved only because the Muslims of this region wanted to model their lives according to the tenets of Islam. Keeping the religious considerations supreme, they forgot all the differences of language, race, culture, and geography that divided them. Problems of national integration are only due to the reason for forgetting the lesson of fraternity and brotherhood. Islam has taught us that:

“... and hold fast, all together, by the rope which Allah (stretches out for you), and be not divided among yourselves; and remember with gratitude Allah’s favour on you; for ye were enemies and He joined your hearts in love, so by His Grace, ye became brethren.....” (3:103)

Thus, unity, brotherhood and the true spirit of Islamic fraternity need to be revived to remind the people of Pakistan in order to achieve national integration.

2. Revival of the National Spirit based on Two Nation Theory:

“Two Nation Theory” was a practical Programme for enabling the Muslims of South East Asia to model their lives on Islamic ideals, in private and public affairs. Pakistan was created with the sole objective of safeguarding the spiritual identity as well as the physical existence of the Muslims in this area. The citizens of Pakistan must realize that their existence is directly related to the existence of Pakistan.

3. Promotion of Islamic Culture and Tradition:

Individual and collective lives of the people of Pakistan bear a deep imprint of Islam to whatever region, racial or linguistic group they may belong. Local customs and traditions with the racial, parochial, and cast differences are also common. These are the remnants of the uncivilized local traditions. These things divide people, create bitterness in their feelings, and sow the seeds of discord among them. This situation can be remedied by promoting Islamic cultural values.

4. Application of Media for Nation Building:

Media can play an important role in the promotion of a national outlook and in dispelling the negative sentiments of parochialism and regionalism. Radio and television programs need to be useful and purpose directed. They should serve the cause of educating the people about Pakistan Ideology. They should inform the people about the objectives of our freedom struggle.

5. Promotion of Urdu:

Urdu is the lingua franca i.e. the language that serves as a medium of communication between different areas of the country. It is not the language of a particular region; it is a common national heritage. During the days of freedom struggle, Urdu emerged as a strong symbol of Muslims’ national identity. Therefore, Muslims from all parts of India rendered sacrifices for the defense of Urdu, although for most of them Urdu was a second language; it was not their mother tongue. Therefore, Urdu should be adopted as the medium of instruction at all levels as well as the language of the official business for the promotion of national cohesion and identity.

Conclusion:

Education is a very powerful weapon for national integration. Through education, we may give the necessary motivations to children, who are the future citizens of the nation. Our general policy in the organization of curriculum, in admission in various educational centers and in the appointment of teachers, should be to encourage the propagation of national elements and national solidarity and not to give any place to caste, religion, class, and community.

5) What type of administrative and political measures should be adopted for the promotion of national integration?

Answer:

National integration is a process of achieving national cohesion, stability, prosperity, strength, and feelings of being united as a nation. Pakistan is facing various administrative and political issues, which are the biggest challenge in the security and solidarity of Pakistan. There are different techniques through which the process of national integration can be enhanced and the issues of administration and political instability could be resolved.

Administrative measures:

It is the responsibility of policymakers to make a strategy to create uniformity among different ethnic identities of Pakistan through evolving mutual consensus regarding different developmental projects and issues, which are common in the state e.g.

i. Administration with Responsibilities and Patriotic Outlook:

Federal administration is a national institution under federal civil services officers. There will be no reason for the people of any province to complain of an alien rule if these officers perform their duties with a real sense of service and consider themselves the servants of the people and not their masters or rulers. It is also necessary that all the provinces be given their due share in civil and military services. If this is not done, certain parts of the country will suffer a sense of deprivation.

ii. Restructuring of the Provinces:

Pakistan comprises four provinces. These provinces have different cultural, linguistic, and ethnic characteristics. Such differences are common in all countries of the world. Nevertheless, unfortunately, these differences have become a challenge for national integration due to the conspiracies of the unpatriotic elements. Such groups have emerged in all the four provinces of Pakistan. There are people who speak in terms of narrow parochial nationalism instead of a wider Pakistani nationalism. They take pride in calling them Punjabis, Sindhis, Pakhtoons or Balochis but not Pakistanis. In order to prevent the people from thinking that the provinces can form independently administered or sovereign units, the government must plan restructuring the boundaries of all the provinces.

2. Political Measures:

The issue of provincial autonomy has always caused great problems for constitution makers and legislatures. This problem gave birth to the grave crises of constitutional and political history. The existence of minor conflicts between the demands of national integration and the claims of provincial autonomy is natural to exist. In order to resolve this conflict, the following proposals can be taken into considerations:

i. Bi-Cameral Legislature:

A bicameral legislature was established for the first time under the 1973 Constitution of the Islamic Republic of Pakistan. The upper house was named Senate. The Lower house or the National Assembly represents the people of Pakistan. The Senate is the house of provinces and all the provinces have been given equal representation in the Senate. This is an important step to dispel the sense of deprivation in small provinces. Now the bigger provinces are not in a position to override or overrule the opinion of the smaller provinces. It is necessary to keep up with these new constitutional securities.

ii. Separation of Powers:

In the federal form of government, powers are divided between the federal and the provincial government. Separation of power between the central government and the federating units is an essential requirement for a strong federal system. Provincial governments should be given adequate powers, which will create a sense of self-confidence in the people. The center should be given only such powers as are indispensable to keep the nation integrated. The Constitution of 1973 provides adequate safeguards for provincial autonomy. All the four provinces expressed satisfaction regarding these principles. The only thing now required is the implementation of the constitutional clauses in letter and spirit.

iii. The democratic system of Government:

The democratic system creates a sense of responsibility and participation in the people. They start to love their country and live for it. Dictatorship, on the contrary, creates a sense of deprivation among the people; and they get alienated from the national and collective affairs. They develop enmity not only towards the rulers but also towards the province or the class to which the rulers belong. Their dislike for the rulers may turn into hatred for the country. In this way, national integration is threatened. We should establish a democratic system based on the principles of Islamic ideology.

Conclusion:

There is a need to develop Pakistani nationhood which should give people the feeling that despite regional differences, they form a nation destined for common statehood. The policy-makers of local governments have a clear responsibility to foster unity among diverse populations. The sincerity of approach and purpose is the most vital element of success. Therefore, the ruling party must evolve an identity of its own, which should inspire faith, hope, and confidence.

Economic Planning and Development

In the Islamic Republic of Pakistan

Chapter # 9

19. Give Prof. Lewis's definition of fiscal planning.

Ans. Prof. Lewis's Definition:

Prof. Lewis has defined planning in the following words:

“Economic planning is a scheme of an economic organization.... For the purpose of utilizing all available resources to achieve maximum satisfaction of people's needs within a given time”

20. What was Pakistan's condition at the time of partition in respect of industrial development?

Ans. Condition of Industrial Development at time of Partition:

- Pakistan started with an extremely weak industrial base after independence.
- At that time main industries were in Calcutta, Bombay, Madras.
- Under partition plan all these cities were made part of India.
- At the time of partition united India had totally 921 industries and Pakistan got only 34.

21. Define 'Trade' 'Commerce'.

Trade:

The term trade is applied to the process in which countries buy and sell goods each other. The term is also applied to some special business like 'Cotton Trade'

Commerce:

- Commerce literally means buying and selling of goods and services.
- By rating the level of progress, a particular country has achieved in field of trade and commerce, general economic progress can be determined.

22. Write a short note on E-Commerce.

Ans. E-Commerce:

- E-Commerce is the latest innovation in the traditional commerce techniques.
- E stands for "Electronic"
- E-Commerce implies the buying and selling of goods and services through network, internet and E-mail uses.
- Internet and credit cards are the instruments through which cross border trade and commerce has become possible and the barriers that interposed between business transactions have been automatically removed.

23. Define IT.

Ans. IT

- IT is the abbreviation of information technology.
- IT means the use of computer and internet for assessing, processing, manipulation, projection and broadcast of the data and information.
- IT has emerged as a very powerful technology and tool of dispersing information.

24. Enumerate the kinds of natural resources.

Ans. Kinds of Natural Resources:

There are four main kinds of natural resources.

- a. Energy - Solar, Petroleum, Natural gas, Electricity and Coal
- b. Minerals - Metallic, Non - Metallic
- c. Land – Irrigation, Forests, Agricultural, Barren
- d. Livestock

25. What is meant by HDI ? What is Pakistan's status according to HDI ?

Ans. HDI

- HDI stands for Human Development Index.
- It is a new concept. This term became popular through the efforts of the United Nations Organization.

Pakistan's Status According to HDI

- Pakistan falls on 144th position according to the report of HDI.
- In the proceeding year Pakistan was 138th in order.
- This shows that more than 76% countries of the world are placed in better standards of education, health and general quality of life, as compared to Pakistan.

26. What is the impact of policy of nationalization had on our national economy?

Ans. Impact of Policy of Nationalization on Our Economy:

- Policy of nationalization caused alarm to investors and investment came to stand still.
- Industrial machinery was devastated, Production decreased and the labourers took to protests.
- Due to low industrial output dependence on foreign exchange increased.
- In the following years burden on economy increased due to debt and heavy amount of interest.

27. What is HRD? What is importance?

Ans. HRD

- HRD stands for Human Resource Development.
- It is a guiding principle of the fiscal policy.

Importance of HRD

- It is important because policy makers started realizing that the objectives of increasing a prosperous society cannot be achieved unless human resources are developed on priority basis.
- Education is the paramount factor in the development of human resources.

28. Signify the importance of the conservation of resources by quoting an example of the Prophet Muhammad ﷺ.

Ans. Importance of Conservation of Resources.

- Human population is increasing day by day, and by this available resource are falling short day by day.
- These resources should be conserved to maintain ecological balance and save them for future generations'

- Economic expert predict that the Third World War will be fought for water.

Quote of the Prophet Muhammad ﷺ.

Prophet Muhammad ﷺ once said that.

“ One should not waste water even if he is making ablution (wuzoo) from a canal full of water “

The Prophet ﷺ wanted to make realize that the natural resources are nobody's personal property: no body has a right to misuse it.

Additional Questions and MCQs

1 . When the Sixth Five Year plan was started and what was its strategy

Ans. Sixth Five Year plan:

Sixth Five Year plan was launched in July 1983

Strategy:

1. Social consciousness is a pre-requisite for evolving a solid development base.
2. Fruits of economic progress can be made available to the common man only by ensuring his active participation in economic activity.
3. Participation of the private sector is to be maximized.

2. When and why the Forth Five-Year plan was called off?

Ans. Forth Five Year plan:

This plan was called off due to the political crisis that resulted in the creation of Bangladesh on 16 Dec,1971 and the Indo-Pak War on the same issue.

3. When and Why the Policy of Nationalization given up?

Ans. Policy of Nationalization:

The Policy of Nationalization was given up in the last years of eighth decade.

Reason:

The policy of nationalization caused an alarm to the investors and investment came to stand still, industrial machinery was devastated, production decreased and the laborers took to protest, due to low industrial output dependence on foreign aid increased and the nation was badly taken into the vicious circle of poverty.

4. Define Resource.

Ans. Resource:

Resource is defined simply as means of comfort or help; something one turns to when one is in need or difficulty.

5. What did Quaid-e-Azam said about the Natural Resources of Pakistan?

Ans. Quotation of Quaid-e-Azam:

“The Quaid-e-Azam once said that providence has endowed Pakistan abundant resources; it was for the people now to explore and exploit these resources to their benefit. this was not an easy task ; it demanded honesty and tireless labor “

Encircle the correct option i.e. A/B/C/D.

i. Muslim League was established in _____ in Decca.

- A) Laknow B) Dehli C) Decca D) Agra

ii. In 1905 _____ portioned Bengal.

- A) Lord Mount Batten B) Sir Pethic Lawrence C) Stafford Cripps D) Lord Curzon

iii. Aligarh University was established in _____.

- A) 1928 B) 1921 C) 1922 D) 1927

iv. Gandhi ji interpreted _____ as “an appeal or an advice”.

- A) Cripps Mission Plan B) Cabinet Mission Plan C) 3rd June Plan D) Simon Commission

v. Opening session of the first Constituent Assembly of Pakistan was held in _____ at Karachi.

- A) 12th August 1947 B) 14th August 1947 C) 13th August 1947 D) 11th August 1947.

Answers in Detail

Q1. Why planning is essential for development?

Answer

Answer:

Planning is a technique for achieving certain predetermined goals laid down by a central planning authority. Prof. Lewis Lorwin has defined planning as:

“Economic Planning is a scheme of an economic organization..... for the purpose of utilizing all available resources to achieve maximum satisfaction of people’s needs within a given time.”

Requirement of Economic Planning for Development:

Economic Planning is essential for the development of the economy in any state. The purpose of economic planning is that the people of a country should be provided with many opportunities to lead a happy, prosperous, and contented life. The reasons for economic planning are:

1. The increase of National Income:

Economic planning is required to enhance the national income of a country.

2. Better Standards of Living:

Economic planning is required in order to improve the better standards of living by increasing per capita income level.

3. Provision of New Job Opportunities:

Planning is required to meet the issue of unemployment and to create new job opportunities.

4. Stabilization of Prices:

Planning in developing countries is more necessary to check the inadequacies of the market in order to stabilize the prices of the goods.

5. Self-sufficiency of Food:

Planning is demanded in order to achieve the self-sufficiency of food items.

6. Reduction of Economic Disparities:

Economic inequality has always been an important issue for economic growth. Economic planning should be prescribed in order to prevent the growing social and political disparities among different classes of the people.

7. Reduction of Poverty:

In order to break the vicious circle of poverty in underdevelopment countries and to speed up the process of their economic development, planning is required. Therefore, the Government should plan for accelerated economic growth.

8. Check of Foreign Exchange Earning:

The excessive foreign exchange reserves have a positive impact on increasing output. Economic planning is important to acquire a better balance of payment by improving foreign exchange earning capacity.

9. Investment Behaviour:

Planning is essential to reorient the investment behaviour and to bring in conformity with the national interests instead of the narrow personal interests of the investors.

10. Protection of Labour Rights:

The economic planning is essential for the protection of the fundamental rights of the labour force. The policymakers should make plans for the improvement of their working conditions and wages.

Conclusion:

Economic planning plays an important role in maintaining the growth and quality of life for both commercial ventures and residents. The organizational structure in which the planning Process operates is important because it makes possible the utilization of all available resources and helps to reduce the wastage of valuable resources. Thus, it can be concluded that Economic planning increases the overall efficiency.

Q2. Signify the importance of agriculture in our national economy.

Answer:

Pakistan is an agrarian economy. In agriculture, Pakistan has a strong comparative advantage in the production and exports of a number of agricultural products because of its climate and location. Pakistan is one of the world's top five producers of cotton, rice, and milk and one of the top ten for wheat and sugar cane. Its production of fruits and vegetables is also significant.

Importance of Agriculture in Pakistan's Economy:

The importance of agriculture in Pakistan's economic structure is:

1. Increasing GNP of the Economy:

The agricultural sector of Pakistan has made a significant contribution to its GNP as thirty-two percent of Pakistan's GNP comes from the agriculture sector.

2. Foreign Exchange Earner:

The agricultural area is the major source of foreign exchange incomes in Pakistan. Pakistan fulfills 70-80 percent foreign exchange requirements from the earnings generated from the agriculture sector.

3. Labour Force:

About 61% of the population is living in more than 50,000 villages in Pakistan. This sector is the major source for supply of labour force to the industrial sector due to farm mechanization and disguised unemployment. Thirty-nine percent of Pakistan's total population is employed as a labour force in the agriculture sector. In this way, an increase in the income of the people leads to an improved living standard.

4. Major Source of Employment:

Agriculture sector provides employment to a major portion of our labour force because about seventy-nine percent of our total population depends directly or indirectly upon agriculture. Likewise, about 30 percent of the population which depends on agriculture is semi-employed.

5. Supply of Raw Material:

Agricultural sector provides not only food but also provides cotton, sugarcane, tobacco, rice, oil-seed, meat and milk to various agro-based, small scale and large-scale industries as a raw material.

6. Development of Industrial Sector

Pakistan is an agriculture country but even agriculture has to depend upon industries for its development in many ways such as the supply of fertilizers, pesticides, herbicides, implements and other machinery to process agriculture production.

Conclusion:

Agriculture has contributed to Pakistan's development in various ways. It contributes significantly to other sectors and is the main source of growth of the economy. Importance of this sector is manifold as it feeds people, provides the raw material for industry and is the base of our foreign trade. The government should announce policies, which raise the productivity of agriculture in order to increase economic development.

Q3. Give the background of industrial development in Pakistan and signify the importance of industries in the development of the national economy.

Answer:

Industrialization is essential for rapid development of the country. The Pakistan industry sector was very weak at the time of partition. The industrial production was very low because the British had concentrated their entire industrial establishment in the cities, which were the part of India. Therefore, Pakistan faced many problems in the development of the industrial sector. These difficulties were mainly due to the wrong and biased policy of the British government in the subcontinent. The British government deliberately ignored the industrial development of Muslim majority areas. Thus at the time of partition, Pakistan received only 34 industrial units out of 921 units. The outcome of this partition was that Pakistan had to take a fresh start to build up its industries on stable foundations. The British and India tried hard to destroy the economy of the newly born state of Pakistan but could not succeed. The industrial sector received a little boost from 1960 to 1984 and reached 20% in the national products, which was the second largest sector after agriculture, in the national economy.

The importance of Industries in National Development:

Since the Industrial Revolution, industrialization has been regarded as essential for a country's rapid economic development. The countries that solely rely on agriculture have remained poor and underdeveloped, whereas the nations that gave priority to rapid industry growth to industry achieved high rates of development. Pakistan is an agricultural country but on the other hand, we must pay due consideration to our industrial sector. Industrial development is very significant for Pakistan on the following grounds:

1. Agriculture Development:

The Industrial Sector is also important and helpful in agricultural development because modern agriculture cannot be carried out without the help of mechanical equipment. Modernization of agriculture demands abundant supply of agriculture implements, pesticides, insecticides and fertilizers, which needs strong industrial support.

2. Agro-based Industry:

Agro-based Industry has two dimensions, i.e. industry based on agriculture produce and industry, which provides basic infrastructure for the agriculture sector, i.e. tractor, tube well and other agriculture equipment. In order to earn more foreign exchange, it is necessary that our agricultural produce is not exported in raw form but in processed form. Processing requires an agro-based industrial setup.

3. Opportunities for Employment:

Establishment of industries means the massive chances for employment. If more industries would develop in the country, it will be able to provide more chances to a greater number of people. Thus, industries are the source of elimination of unemployment from the country.

4. Import of Raw and Processed Goods:

Pakistan imports large quantities of raw and processed goods in order to meet the demands of the ever-expanding population as well as for keeping a balance between exports and imports. Therefore, it is necessary to establish factories to increase exports and decrease imports.

5. Better standards of life:

Unemployment brings many troubles for the people of a country. When the number of industries would increase, it would eliminate unemployment and poverty from the country and ultimately raise the standards of people's life.

6. Establishment of Cottage Industries:

It is not necessary that we should establish high-cost heavy industries but we can also develop our industrial sector by establishing cottage industries. Cottage industries would help us to consume millions of unemployed people especially women.

Conclusion:

It can be concluded that the industry of the country is essential for economic development because Pakistan cannot totally depend on agriculture. The industry provides more jobs in a small area. It fulfills our needs by producing various industrial goods and industrial raw material, and supplying new products for marketing. Therefore, the establishment of industries should be the top priority of the government of Pakistan.

Q.4) What is meant by 'Trade' and 'Commerce'? Also, signifies the importance of E-Commerce.

Answer:

Trade:

The term "Trade" means "the process of buying and selling or exchanging goods within a country or between countries." In other words, trade is applied to the process in which countries buy and sell goods to each other. The term is also applied to some special business like 'cotton trade.'

Commerce:

Commerce is a broad term, which literally means "buying and selling of goods and services." It can also be defined as a component of the business, which includes all activities, functions, and institutions involved in transferring goods from producers to consumers. International trade is the exchange of goods and services across national borders. In most countries, it represents a significant part of GDP. While international trade has been present throughout much of history, its economic, social, and political importance have increased in recent centuries, mainly because of Industrialization, advanced transportation, globalization, multinational corporations, and outsourcing. By rating a level of economic progress, a particular country has achieved in the field of trade and commerce.

E-commerce:

The Internet continues to change every aspect of our lives and changes the way consumers make their purchase decisions. E-Commerce is comparatively a new concept in trading which is shaping the future of business around the globe. E-Commerce implies the system of “online trading, buying, and selling of goods and services through different networks, i.e. email, internet etc.”

Importance of E-Commerce:

Business trading is achieving popularity through the Internet around the globe since the mid-90s. However, things have taken a strong momentum in the recent few years. Local and global entrepreneurs from every field have diverted a large part of their focus on building E-Commerce portals. Electronic means of commerce has many advantages i.e.

1. Wider choice:

With the help of a well-developed computer networking system, business units can operate at the national as well as global level. The customers thus have a wider choice of products and services. The executives also get a wider market for their products and services.

2. Time-Saving:

E-commerce is one of the cheapest means of doing business, as it has made it possible to reduce the cost of promotion of products and services. There is no time barrier in selling the products. One can log on to the internet even at midnight and can sell the products at a single click of a mouse.

3. Fast in Speed:

E-commerce is faster in speed as compared to usual trade. People can manage big business deals in just a matter of minutes. In E-commerce, business transactions take far less time as compared to the normal process of buying and selling. This is because the producers cut short the distribution channel and supply products and services directly to consumers.

4. Low Chance of Error:

E-commerce is mainly through the internet. It depends on machines, not on human memory. That is why there are fewer chances of human error in E-Commerce.

5. Cheaper means of Trading:

E-Commerce is more effective, active, and efficient than usual means of trading. It is unusual for customers to travel long distances to reach their preferred physical store. E-Commerce allows them to visit the same store virtually, with a few clicks.

6. Diversified means of trading:

Interesting and modern methods of trading can be adopted in E-Commerce.

7. Online retailing:

Online shopping or online retailing is a form of electronic commerce, which allows consumers to buy goods or services from a seller over the Internet, and to the whole world using a web browser. Alternative names are e-shop, e-store, Internet shop, web-shop, web-store, online store, and virtual store.

8. Access to the international market:

Through E-Commerce the businessperson can access the international market without being entangled in the process of visa obtaining etc. it is more convenient and easier for a businessperson to access the international market.

Conclusion:

It is essential for organizations to understand E-Commerce from a broad perspective. They have to learn the basics of the underlying technology, to assess the impact of the technology on business processes, to foresee how the Internet may shape the course of the future in our everyday life and business world, and to enjoy the benefits of electronic E-Commerce in their business practices.

Q5. What is the importance of information technology in the modern world?

Answer:

Introduction:

Information technology is a growing and rising industry that has a lot of potential. It has become a very familiar term for the people working in the field of computers as well as the information and education professionals. During the last two decades of the 20th century, personal computers have developed into a powerful medium for processing, accessing, information, and manipulation. It is an industry, which gathers the procedure of computer hardware, software, and networking. Thus, Information Technology (IT) is defined as, "the application of computers and telecommunications equipment to retrieve, transmit, store, and manipulate data, often in the context of a business or other enterprise."

Importance of Information Technology:

The impact of Information Technology has been enormous on various domains like business, education, medicine etc. Computers and the information they process and store have transformed every aspect of society. With the introduction of computers, the business world was changed forever. Using computers and software, businesses use information technology to ensure that their departments run smoothly. They use information technology in a number of different departments including human resources, finance, manufacturing, and security. Information technology has many advantages, which shows its importance in the modern world. Some of these advantages are:

1. New Vision:

Information Technology has given us a new vision about the future.

2. Tools for Literate and Civilized Society:

It has equipped us with the tools and techniques, which can be applied to make the society literate and civilized and can expand the frontiers of knowledge.

3. Communication:

With the help of information technology, communication has also become cheaper, quicker, and more efficient. The internet has also opened up face-to-face direct communication from different parts of the world.

4. Cost-effectiveness:

Information technology has helped to computerize the business process to make them extremely cost-effective money making machines. This, in turn, increases productivity, which ultimately gives rise to profits that mean better pay and less strenuous working conditions.

5. Creation of new jobs:

Probably the best advantage of information technology is the creation of new and interesting jobs. Computer programmers, Systems analyzers, Hardware and Software developers, and Web designers are just some of the many new employment opportunities created with the help of IT.

6. Reduction of the cultural gap:

Information technology has helped to bridge the cultural gap by helping people from different cultures to communicate with one another and allow for the exchange of views and ideas, thus increasing awareness and reducing prejudice.

Conclusion:

Information technology today permits us to gather, handle, and interconnect a gigantic volume of information. Moreover, its sustainable development improves its competence, capability swiftness, and precisions of any components it provides. Information technology has achieved a lot in this present era and will continue to evolve. It is more than a combination of computers and communication technology. It is indeed true to say that information technology has successfully infiltrated human existence, occupying the biggest part of every lifestyle.

Q6. Highlight the strategies indicated in Pakistan 1st five-year plan, its targets achievement and failures.

Answer:

Planning is considered an essential means of guiding and developing the process of economic development. Pakistan has started its planning for economic development soon after its independence. The Five-Year Plans for the National Economy of Pakistan were the series of nationwide centralized economic plans and targets as part of the economic development initiatives in Pakistan. Prof. Lewis Lorwin has defined planning in the following words:

“Economic planning is a scheme of an economic organization... For the purpose of utilizing all available resources to achieve maximum satisfaction of people’s needs within a given time.”

First Five Year Plan:

After the division of the subcontinent, Pakistan’s first Prime Minister Liaquat Ali Khan approved the first five-year plans in 1950 for the period of 1950-55. The plan was conceived by the Ministry of Finance and was studied and developed by the Economic Coordination Committee (ECC). At the time of partition of India, Pakistan’s systems of production, transportation, trade, and consumption faced a very low standard of living of the people, with little opportunity for education, or economic advancement in the country. The industries and agriculture development were among the lowest in the world. The strategies, targets, achievements, and failures of this plan were:

Strategy:

The development of the rural and agriculture sectors was placed on top priority and a balanced approach between the agriculture and industrial sector was stressed. Twenty-nine percent of the total expenditure during the plan was earmarked for the development of water and power resources. The major part of the expenditure required for the development schemes was to be generated from indigenous resources.

Targets:

The development targets set for the First Five Year Plan were:

- To improve the standard of living of the people.
- To improve the balance of payments of the country by increasing exports and by the production of substitutes for imports.
- To increase the job opportunities and reduce unemployment in the country.
- To make steady progress in providing social services, housing, education, health, and social welfare.
- To increase rapidly the rate of development, especially in East Pakistan and other relatively less developed areas.

Failures and Successes:

This programme was built entirely in the absence of much essential information and basic statistics. In practice, this plan was not implemented because of its enormous size that lacked the physical and personal assistance. The shortage of technical knowledge also devastated the programme. The Awami League’s government also had a shortage of foreign exchange to execute the plan and was unable to find outside assistance to fulfill its commitment to the first five-year plans. The failures of the First Five Year Plan were as follows:

1. The national income was increased by 11 percent while the target was set at 15 percent.

2. Increase in annual per capita income was recorded at 1.6 as against the anticipated target of 7 percent.
3. One million acres of barren land was reclaimed for cultivation against the target set at 1.5 million acres.
4. No mentionable success was achieved in the field of mineral development except in the field of natural gas.
5. The most disappointing feature of the plan was the failure in the key agriculture sector. No definite weight age was given to the objective of the plan.
6. Financial resources available for development fell short of expectations.
7. Planning machinery was not effective.
8. The performance was less encouraging in the transport sector.

Achievements of the First Five Year Plan:

The achievements of the First Five Year Plan were:

1. Literacy rate declined from 18% to 15%.
2. New industries were established.
3. A commendable improvement was made in railway and transport sectors.

Conclusion:

Liaquat Ali Khan devised the First Five Year Plan after the independence of Pakistan. However, the plan did not receive formal approval from the government until 1957 and never received full support from the government. It failed to highlight the importance of 5 years planning to the government as well as the public. Although the plan has many objectives for the betterment of the people of Pakistan but it could not achieve many of its objectives due to uncertain information and basic statistics.

Q7. Describe importance of preservation and development of natural resources.

Answer:

Resources are the essential input to the economic process. It is defined as “means of comfort or help; something one turns to when one is in need or difficulty.” Natural resources are naturally occurring substances that are considered valuable in their relatively unmodified form, which include soil, timber, oil, minerals, air, water, wind energy, iron, and coal and other goods taken from the Earth. The natural resources of a nation often determine its wealth and status in the world economic system, by determining its political influence.

The natural resources are not the only factor in determining the level of its development rather the exploitation of natural resources and their usefulness also depends on the efforts of human beings. Thus, in this way, natural resources and human resources are interconnected, which play an important role in the progress of a country.

Importance of Natural Resources:

Natural resources play a key role in the development of a country. However, Pakistan is a backward country on the basis of evaluation on explored mineral resources, because due attention was not paid to the exploration of the natural resources in the past. There was only one percent of the national income, which was earmarked for mineral development and research. Pakistan has not yet been able to explore and exploit its mineral wealth properly.

Conservation of Resources:

Quaid-e-Azam once said that “Providence has endowed Pakistan with abundant resources; it was for the people now to explore and exploit these resources to their benefit. This was not an easy task; it demanded honesty and tireless labour.”

Economical and modest use of available resources and protecting these resources from going waste is a matter, which is less important than exploration itself. Therefore, the term “Conservation of Resources” is used for the preservation of resources, which aims at protecting natural resources from waste and loss.

Importance of Conservation of Natural resources:

Natural resources, both renewable and non-renewable are a part of the real wealth of nations. Human population is growing day by day, and with this, available resources are falling short of human needs. Natural resources are the common heritage of humanity and economic experts of the modern age predict that the Third Great War will be fought for water. Prophet Muhammad S.A.W said that one should not waste water even if he is making ablution (wuzoo) from a canal full of water. The Prophet Peace Be Upon Him actually wanted to impress us that the natural resources are nobody's personal property; nobody has the right to misuse them. The only course open for a grateful man is to take the bare minimum share for him or herself from the dainties of Allah and leave the rest for the rest of humanity.

Conclusion:

Natural resources play a significant role in the country's economic development as they contribute towards fiscal revenue, income, and poverty reduction. The sectors related to natural resources provide jobs and are often the basis of livelihoods in poor communities. However, the growing population and increasing level of resources consumption are degrading and depleting the Natural Resources. Therefore, the government should put such policies, which ensures the contribution of resources and maximize the value of natural resources to the long-term economic development of nations.

Q8) Write a brief note on “Education and Health for all”.

Answer:

Human development is a well-being concept within a field of international development. It involves studies of the human condition with its core being the capability approach. People are the real wealth of nations. The basic goal of development is to create an environment that enables people to enjoy a long, healthy, creative life. Human Development Report for the year 2000 has defined Human Development as “the process of improving human capabilities for enhancing the production of commodities, most desired by human beings.” The report stated that good health, education, comfortable environment and the freedom of thought and action are considered the basic factors of human development.

Importance of Education and Health for All:

Education for All (EFA) is a global movement led by UNESCO (United Nation Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization), aiming to meet the learning needs of all children, youth and adults by 2015 whole Health for All means that health is to be brought within reach of everyone in a given country. In addition, “health” is a personal state of wellbeing that enables a person to lead a socially and economically productive life. In this regard, WHO and UNESCO have been mandated to lead the movement and coordinate the international efforts to reach Education and Health for All. The adoption of Health for All lays the foundations of a healthy nation of the future and by educating people, an action can be spur which expands the progress with the passage of time.

Human Development Index (HDI):

HDI is a new concept, which became popular through the efforts of the United Nations Organization. It stands for the Human Development Index (HDI). The United Nations Organization has been publishing HDI based on yearly progress made by all countries of the World on three grounds.

1. Level of health and average life expectancy.

2. Level of literacy (quality and quantity of the level of education acquired by the people)

3. Good standards of living (measured based on annual per capita income of the people.)

HDI covered 189 countries of the world during the reporting year 2003. Pakistan falls on 144th position according to this report. In the preceding year, Pakistan was 138th in order. This means that more than 76 percent of countries of the world are placed in better standards of education, health, and general quality of life, as compared to Pakistan. There is a desperate need to raise both health and education standards in Pakistan including its availability.

Q9) Give a brief account of the Planning of Economics in Pakistan.

Answer:

Economic planning is being considered as a useful tool for alleviating the problems of unemployment, poverty, economic inequality, regional imbalances, and a number of socio-economic backwardness in the economy. Therefore, the process of economic planning in Pakistan started towards the beginning of the sixth decade of the twentieth century. First Five Year plan was published in May 1956. Seven other Plans were launched successively. The Five-Year Plans for the National Economy of Pakistan were the series of nationwide centralized economic plans and targets as part of the economic development initiatives in Pakistan.

Transformation in Economic Planning Strategies:

Pakistan's development strategies have undergone a continuous process of transformation. In the six decades, industrial development was the top priority. This policy was successful in boosting the pace of industrial development but the gap between the incomes reached an alarming level. Another result of this policy was the neglect of the agriculture sector, which forms the backbone of our economy.

Change in Development Strategy:

During the seventh decade (after 1960), the strategy was changed. The agriculture sector was given due importance and foreign monetary support in the shape of aid and loans, which were considered essential for the development of the national economy. Apparently, this policy proved successful and the country was able to achieve a 7 percent annual growth rate, but it brought certain problems in its wake. The gap between the rich and the poor was further widened. The dependence on foreign aid was increased and industries set up during this period were only suitable for the production of consumer's goods. The balance of payment was disturbed due to the increased imports bill and lower exports level. Thus, the disparities between East and West Pakistan reached an alarming level which ultimately resulted in the separation of East Pakistan.

Redefined Policy during the Eighth Decade:

During the eighth decade, the policy was again redefined with a view to make the process of development more equitable. To achieve this objective, 32 big industrial units were nationalized; other smaller industrial units were also nationalized gradually. The policy of nationalization caused an alarm to the investors, investment came to a standstill, industrial machinery was devastated, production decreased, and the labourers took to protests due to low industrial output. In the following years, the feeble economy of the country kept crumbling under the burden of debt servicing and the payment of heavy amounts as interest.

Nationalization to Denationalization:

The nation was badly taken into the vicious circle of poverty. During the last years of the eighth decade, the policy of nationalization was again given up and the process of denationalization started, new incentives were provided to private investors. The policymakers tried to hit a balance between industrial and agricultural growth.

New defining Policies of Economic Development:

The new fiscal policy aimed at enhancing dependence on internal savings instead of foreign aid. Social services were expanded and HRD (Human Resource Development) for the first time emerged as a guiding principle of economic policies. In other words, the policymakers started realizing that the objectives of increasing a prosperous society cannot be achieved unless human resources are developed on a top priority basis. Education is regarded as the paramount factor in the development of human resources.

Conclusion:

Pakistan's Economic Planning went through a continuous transforming process. The Five Year economic plans 1955-98 differed from each other in volume, strategy, and priority structure but they were directed towards achieving almost common objectives. However, practically, none of the objectives were achieved. The economic set up of the country was left to lip services like the other departments of the country. Therefore, it is needed to look at the economic strategies carefully to provide opportunities for learning, to increase the potential of communities by linking them in networks and to ensure the fair competition in trade and investment for the economic development of Pakistan.

Foreign Policy of the Islamic Republic of Pakistan

Chapter # 10

29. Define foreign policy.

Ans. Foreign Policy.

The policy a state adopts in the process of establishing relations with other states is called its 'Foreign Policy', it has been defined thus:

“The general plan of one country concerning its relations with other countries”

30. Enlist five guiding principles of Pakistan's foreign policy.

Ans. Guiding Principles of Pakistan's Foreign Policy.

Our foreign policy is based on the following guiding principles.

- Cooperation with the United Nations and other international agencies in maintaining world peace.
- Friendly relations with all nations of the world.
- Non-alignment.
- Fraternal relations with the Muslims countries.
- Regional cooperation.

31. How can the peace pact of Hudaibia help us to establish the Foreign Policy?

Ans. The Guidance of Hudaibia Peace Pact

- The peace covenant of Hudaibia established the principle that in case of a dispute, if two parties keep insisting on the equality of rights, for establishing peace one party must make unilateral sacrifice.
- History bears witness that at times nations can achieve through peaceful means what they otherwise could not have achieved through war.
- At time of Hudaibia , although Prophet ﷺ knew that Muslims were maltreated yet he advised them to live as the law-abiding citizens of the Makkah. Later it has proved that through this policy of peace Prophet ﷺ led his nation to the glorious victory over his enemies in the shape of conquest of Makkah.

32. In what respect Pakistan was helpful for the People's Republic of China on international issues.?

Ans. Pakistan's Help for China on International Issues.

- In 1950, Pakistan took a strong stand that the People's Republic of China had an exclusive right to represent the Chinese people in the United Nations Organization.
- Pakistan has always backed up China on the issue of Tibet.
- Pakistan always discards Indian terrorism over some of the provinces of China.

33. Write few lines on the present state of Pak-India relation.

Ans. Present state of Pak-India Relations.

- Kashmir issue is a bone of contention between Pakistan and India since day of partition. Due to this both countries fail to develop good relations with each other.
- In the year 2001 Pakistan invited India many times for unconditional negotiation on matters of mutual concern but India did not respond positively.
- In July 2001 Gen. Parvez Musharraf visited India on her invitation, many issues including Kashmir issue were discussed.
- A joint communique had to sign but on matter of Kashmir. Indian foreign minister labelled liberation movement of Kashmiris as "cross border terrorism", this rendered it impossible for the president of Pakistan to sign it.
- In 2004 some positive signs appeared when Indian prime minister Atal Bihari Vajpayee came to Pakistan to attend SAARC conference.
- Many issues of mutual interest were discussed in detail . As a result, tension released to some extent.

- But time and again India shows her stubborn attitude on Kashmir issue and this matter refrains both the countries to enjoy good relations.

Additional Questions and MCQs

1. Write a note on Simla Pact?

Ans. Simla Pact:

In 1972 Pakistan's PM Z. A. Bhutto had a series of meetings with his Indian counterpart Mrs. Indira Gandhi at Simla in India. Under an agreement known as Simla Pact, India agreed to released more than 90,000 Pakistanis taken as prisoners of war in East Pakistan. The parties agreed to solve all their disputes including Kashmir through negotiations and peaceful means.

2. Enlist the projects completed or being carried out in Pakistan with the Chinese assistance?

Ans. Projects:

1. The Karakoram Highway.
2. Pakistan Aeronautical Complex, karna.
3. Gawadar Port.
4. Saindak Project.
5. Cooperation for the Improvement for Pakistan Railways.
6. Cooperation in the Field of Nuclear Energy.

3. When and why Pak-Iran Economic Commission set up?

Ans. Pak-Iran Economic Commission:

In order to promote economic cooperation between the two countries, Pak-Iran Economic Commission was established in 1973.

4. When Pakistan voted against membership of China in UN, what was the response of China.

Ans. In the year 1954, Pakistan for the first time, voted against China's membership in the UN. The Chinese government observed restraint and did not even bother to comment on this unfriendly gesture on the part of government of Pakistan. Chinese positively knew that Pakistan had done this under American pressure.

5. Pakistan's Foreign Policy supports for the Right of Self Determination for all nations? Explain.

Ans. Right of Self Determination:

In international forums Pakistan always rendered full support to the cause of the nation's fighting for their Right of Self Determination and freedom from foreign subjection. Pakistan successfully supported to the independence movements of the countries like Kampuchea, South Africa, Bosnia, Libya, Indonesia and a number of other Asian and African countries

Pakistan has been giving unflinching and consistent support to the cause of independence of the people of Kashmir and the Palestine.

Encircle the correct option i.e. A/B/C/D.

- i. China was established on Oct1,_____.
A. 1947 B.1949 C. 1950 D. 1955
- ii. On sep,11_____ American Trade Centre was attacked by terrorists.
A. 2001 B. 2002 C. 2003 D. 2004
- iii. Pak-Iran Economic Commission was established in_____.
A. 1970 B. 1971 C. 1972 D. 1973
- iv. Pakistan, Iran and Turkey joined the _____in 1955.
A. Baghdad Pact B. Peace Pact C. SEATO D. Simla pact
- v. Transport agreement was signed between Pakistan and China in the year_____.
A. 1962 B. 1963 C. 1964 D. 1965
-

Long Question/ Answers

1. Enlist the objectives and targets of Pakistan's foreign policy.

Answer:

Foreign policy is defined as the policy, which a state adopts in the process of establishing relations with other states and to safeguard its national interests. It has been defined thus:

"The general plan of one country concerning its relations with other countries."

According to Hill,

"Foreign policy is the content or a substance of a nation's efforts to promote its interests vis-a-vis other nations."

Fundamental Principles of Pakistan's Foreign Policy:

Pakistan's Foreign Policy seeks to protect, promote, and advance Pakistan's national interests in the external domain. Therefore, it is based on the five fundamental principles, i.e.

1. Cooperation with the United Nations and other international agencies in maintaining world peace.
2. Friendly relations with all nations of the world.
3. Non-alignment.

4. Fraternal relations with the Muslim countries.
5. Regional cooperation.

Aims and objectives of Pakistan's Foreign Policy:

The aims and objectives of the Foreign policy of Pakistan are:

1. Preservation of National Independence:

The Muslim of South Asia struggles hard against the British and the Hindu hegemony solely because they wanted to live like an independent and free nation. Pakistan had to fight two wars against India, i.e. 1965 and 1971 in order to safeguard its independence. Therefore, the preservation of national independence has always remained the paramount principle of the foreign policy of our country.

2. Support for the right of Self-determination for all Nations:

Pakistan always rendered full support in international forums to the cause of the nation's fighting for their right of self-determination and freedom from foreign subjection. Pakistan successfully supported the independence movements of countries like South Africa, Libya, Indonesia, Eritrea and a number of other Asian and African countries.

3. Promotion of International Cooperation:

Pakistan became a member of the United Nation Organization in the next month after independence. Pakistan, as a member of the UN, always supported the policy of resolving international disputes through negotiation. Pakistan used her good offices for conciliation among different countries of the world on many occasions. In this respect, Pakistan's efforts to bring about a cease-fire between Iran and Iraq are noticeable.

4. Non-alignment:

Today, people are living in a bi-polar world, which is generally divided into the Socialists and the Capitalists blocks. Since Pakistan fought its way based on the principles of Islam, it is not possible for Muslims to become the blind followers of either of the two ideological blocks. Therefore, Pakistan has always tried to establish cordial relations with all countries of the world. Pakistan joined the NAM (Non-Alignment Movement) in 1979 as a regular member.

5. Regional Cooperation:

Pakistan has always strived hard to establish good neighborly relations with the countries of the region. Pakistan entered into a pact with Iran and Turkey, which was known as RCD (Regional Cooperation Development). This pact has now been renamed as ECO (Economic Cooperation Development) and has been expanded to Central Asian Muslim Countries. Pakistan has always maintained friendly relations with China, which is strategically the most important country in our region.

6. Unity of the Muslim World:

Strengthening fraternal ties with the Muslim countries of the world forms an essential part of the Pakistan Ideology. Quaid-e-Azam Muhammad Ali Jinnah was a great protagonist of the unity of the Muslim world. Principles of State Policy in the 1973 Constitution of Pakistan proclaim that the state of Pakistan shall make efforts for the improvement of its relations with the Muslim World. Therefore, Pakistan maintains cordial relations with all the Muslim countries. Pakistan is an important member of the OIC (Islamic Conference) and all other international Islamic forums. Pakistan has a brilliant record of upholding and pleading the cause of the Muslims fighting for their independence in Palestine, Kashmir, Cyprus, Eritrea, and Bosnia, this support was moral as well as diplomatic.

Conclusion:

Pakistan is a Muslim state and follows the principles of Sunnah and Quran. Islam guides the people to develop the relations of unity and goodwill to each other. Moreover, good relations with other states bring peace and prosperity in the world. Therefore, Quaid-e-Azam, after the independence of Pakistan briefly explained the principles and objectives of foreign policy as friendship with all nations across the globe. This principle constrained the world to recognize the value of Pakistan as a separate and independent state.

2. What are the most significant factors that determine the foreign policy of our country?

Answer:

Nations are bound to frame their foreign policy based on successful and honourable objective conditions. The foreign policy of a country does not remain static but it changes according to time and circumstances. Pakistan came into being on 14th of August 1947 and it inherited the legacy of foreign policy from British India. However, it made some adjustments in accordance with its ideology and objectives of Pakistan movement.

Factors Determining the Foreign Policy of Pakistan:

Some of the factors determining the foreign policy of Pakistan are:

1. Pakistan Ideology:

Pakistan has an Islamic Ideological basis. It was established with the sole objective of providing the South Asian Muslims with a homeland where they could live with dignity and honour in the light of democratic principles declared by Islam. The founders of Pakistan believed that the Muslims should invoke separate Muslim identity as positive sentiment. This did not imply hatred for any other nation. The Pakistan Ideology demands that Pakistan should establish friendly relations with all its neighbouring countries. The peace covenant of Hudaibia established the principle that in the case of a dispute if one of the warring factions refuses to fall back, the other party should make unilateral concessions for the attainment of peace. History bears witness that at times, nations are able to achieve through peaceful means what they otherwise could not have achieved through war. The Conquest of Makkah by the Prophet is an outstanding example, which followed within a short period of two years after the Treaty of Hudaibiya.

read more: Chapter 9 Economic Planning and Development of the Islamic Republic

2. Regional Factors:

The area, which was later demarcated as the state of Pakistan, had become an arena of the power struggle between the United States of America and the Soviet Union. The fall of the Soviet Empire brought far-reaching changes in world politics, but this change did not affect Pakistan's position as the most important country of the region.

The People's Republic of China, which is the emerging economic superpower of the world, has very close friendly relations with Pakistan. Afghanistan has undergone rapid changes during the last two decades. Pakistan's western neighbour Iran is struggling hard to come out of its internal strife between conservatism and modernism, which was set in after the Revolution of 1979. The landlocked Central Asian states depend upon Pakistan for access to hot water seaports. These states are overwhelmingly Muslims and have religious ties with Pakistan. These are the facts that should guide the policy makers towards the formation of a balanced foreign policy.

3. Islamic Identity:

Pakistan occupies a central place in the chain of Muslim countries stretching from Africa to the Far East as a part of the global Muslim community. The Quaid-e-Azam (RA) attached great importance to Pakistan's relations with the Muslim countries. On the other side, all Muslim countries of the world, Arab, and non-Arab alike, look forward to Pakistan for guidance in their cherished cause of establishing international Muslim unity.

Holy Prophet Hazrat Muhammad S.A.W stands as a role model for us. Under the Covenant of Hudaibiya, the Prophet S.A.W categorically resolved not to extend any support to the Muslims living in Makkah. Although the Prophet S.A.W knew that these Muslims were maltreated and subjected to suppression, yet he advised them to live as the law-abiding citizens of the state of Makkah. This was a decision, though distasteful for many of the Prophets' S.A.W Companions at that time, but the course of events proved that in the given circumstances it was possibly the wisest and the most prudent decision. Through this Policy of peace and restraint, the Prophet S.A.W led his nation to a glorious victory over his enemies in the shape of Fatah-e-Makkah. This proved that what can be achieved through peace and restraint cannot be achieved through war and emotional frenzy.

Conclusion:

The state of Pakistan was established on Islamic Values and the majority of the people living in Pakistan are Muslims. Islam is a complete code of conduct for all the humanity and emphasizes on unity, peace, and goodwill to each other. Therefore, the factors of Foreign Policy of Pakistan always strives for the promotion of peace and security at the regional and global levels. Moreover, Pakistan consistently seeks friendship and cooperation in its foreign relations based on equality, mutual respect and benefit, non-interference and peaceful settlement of disputes.

3. Given a detailed account of the relations between Pakistan and the people's Republic of China.

Answer:

Relations between the Islamic Republic of Pakistan and the People's Republic of China:

Pakistan has a long and strong relationship with China. The long-standing ties between the two countries have been mutually beneficial. Pakistan's northern neighbor China is the most populous country in the world. The People's Republic of China was established on Oct 1, 1949. Pakistan recognized the newly established Chinese government in Jan 1950.

Pakistan's Support to China in SEATO and CENTO:

In 1950, Pakistan took a strong stand that the People's Republic of China had an exclusive right to represent the Chinese people in the United Nations Organization. Pakistan joined SEATO in the year 1954 and CENTO in 1955 and remained neutral on the issue of China's occupation of Tibet. The two military alliances were sponsored by the United States of America and mainly aimed at containing Communist expansion. China naturally had certain apprehensions about Pakistan's membership of these alliances. Diplomatic Relations:

Pakistan's Prime Minister Muhammad Ali Bogra in the Non-Aligned Conference held in Bandung (Indonesia) in 1955 assured the Chinese Prime Minister that Pakistan's membership of the alliances in no way directed against the People's Republic of China. Prime Minister Chou acknowledged the explanation by expressing his gratitude for the Prime Minister of Pakistan for his cordial gesture. China decided to support Pakistan on the Kashmir issue in 1964, and since that time, her diplomatic support on the issue has remained consistent. In response to this, Pakistan rendered useful support to China, for securing a seat in the United Nation Organization.

China's Support to Pakistan against India:

In the year 1954, Pakistan for the first time voted against China's membership of the United Nations. The Chinese government observed restraint and did not even bother to comment on this unfriendly gesture on the part of the Pakistan government. Chinese positively knew that Pakistan had done this under American pressure. China did not support India on the Kashmir issue. Chinese leadership was fully aware that India had crazy military designs and aspired to establish hegemony over the region. The Chinese people took this Indian attitude as a challenge and retaliated in the same frenzied war spirit. The People's Republic of China had entered into a never-ending war with India. Pakistan was able to engage India with the help of China to such an extent that India was rendered unable to pose a serious threat to China.

Support of China in Wars:

China fully supported Pakistan during the 1965 Indo-Pakistan-War. However, in the 1971 war, China could not support Pakistan openly because the Soviet Union stood openly on the Indian side. Later In the post-war-period, China gave Pakistan large-scale military and economic aid and helped Pakistan rebuild its economy and make good the damages caused due to war. Karakoram Highway inaugurated in 1978, opened a new era of friendship between Pakistan and China.

China's membership of the United Nations:

Americans traditionally had a distaste for Communist governments. They did not like the establishment of the People's Republic of China in 1949. Nevertheless, as time passed, the American policy changed towards China. Nixon was the first American President to realize the importance of Sino-American friendship, and it was in his period that the American Foreign Secretary Henry Kissinger had a secret meeting with the Chinese leadership. The news was made public only after the mission had been successfully concluded. Cessation of hostilities between the two powerful foes paved the way for China's membership of the United Nations, twenty-one years after her inception. This was made possible only through Pakistan's good offices.

Economic Relations:

The First Air Transport agreement between Pakistan and China was concluded in 1963. Similarly, the First Pak-China cultural exchange agreement was signed in March 1965. The Heads of both the state and government have been paying frequent visits to each other's country. Most important among these visits were Prime Minister Chou En Lai's visit to Pakistan in 1956 and Zulfikar Ali Bhutto's visit to China in Feb. 1972.

Major Projects:

China has been a close and dependable friend of Pakistan since 1972. The friendship has grown and expanded in all directions to include science, technology, education, and defense into its fold, side by side with diplomatic cooperation. Some of the projects completed in Pakistan with the Chinese assistance are:

The Karakoram Highway:

The Highway made land traffic possible between the two countries. The volume of trade carried out between the two countries through this route is expanding day by day. Construction of this highest land route in the world, cutting through the formidable mountains, was not an easy task. A great number of Pakistani and Chinese workers laid their lives during the process of its construction.

Pakistan Aeronautical Complex, Kamra;

Military aircraft are repaired and overhauled in this complex. Pakistan's indigenous aircraft Mashshak was designed and produced completely in this complex.

Gwadar Port:

A new seaport at Gawadar (Balochistan) is being put up with the Chinese assistance. It is believed that this new seaport will bring about the revolution in Pakistan's economy, improve Pakistan's interaction with the landlocked Central Asian Muslim States, and help Pakistan meet her naval defense requirement in a better way.

Saindak Project:

Pakistan was unable to make use of the large copper deposits found in the province of Baluchistan due to the scarcity of resources and the absence of technical knowledge. A big project for this purpose has now been made feasible with the Chinese assistance.

Cooperation for the Improvement of Pakistan Railways:

The system of Railways in Pakistan is being upgraded and improved with the technical assistance provided by the People's Republic of China. Under this programme, a new train i.e. Karakoram Express, with facilities of international standards has been launched.

Cooperation in the Field of Nuclear Energy:

Pakistan has built a nuclear power station at Chashma (District Mianwali) with Chinese assistance in order to meet its deficiency in the energy sector. There are numerous other departments and sectors in which the two countries are cooperating usefully. Pak-China relationship is based on mutual trust and peaceful co-existence, this cooperation is free from aggressive designs against any other country in the world.

Conclusion:

The support of China and Pakistan to each other is considered significant in global diplomacy. Pak China friendship has been proved to be a model of friendship between two neighboring states. Both states have a strong political, defense, social and economic relations. Therefore, the Chinese investment in Pakistan is gradually increasing which is very important for the economic development of Pakistan.

Q:2 Analyse the relations between Pakistan and India.

Ans: OUTLINE

1. Introduction
2. Division of the sub-continent
3. Early problems and Kashmir issue
4. Kashmir issue in UNO
5. Delaying tactics of India
6. Pak- India wars
7. Water issue and Indus water treaty
8. Role of India in 1971
9. Shimla pact
10. Atomic blasts of India
11. Atomic blasts of Pakistan
12. Kargil war and Washington declaration
13. Agra conference
14. AARC conference
15. Conclusion

1- Introduction

Pakistan and India have not been in good terms right from the beginning. They have fought three wars and both are atomic powers. They are developing countries but spending most of their resources on their defence. Here we will discuss the relations between Pakistan and India.

2- Division of the sub-continent

The Muslims and the Hindus have been living together in the sub-continent for centuries but could not become one Nation on ideological grounds. In 1947, Pakistan and India emerged on the map of the world as sovereign and independent States. Since then India have been making every possible effort to weaken Pakistan.

3- Early problems and Kashmir issue

At the time of independence, India created huge problems for Pakistan. It wanted to weaken Pakistan so that it would again become a part of India. The main issue was created by boundary Commission. It awarded Pakistani areas to India and gave her access to Kashmir. So India captured Kashmir by force. Since then, Kashmir has been a bone of contention between two countries.

4- Kashmir issue in UNO

When India captured Kashmir by force, the Kashmiri Muslims fought against Indian forces and freed 1/3rd area from India. India took this issue in United Nations. Pakistan explain the situation in Security Council. Then it was decided that a plebiscite would be held in Kashmir under UNO. India has always delayed the issue and it is still pending.

5- Delaying tactics of India

The Security Council decided to conduct a plebiscite in Kashmir to decide the fate of Kashmir. India agreed on this but has always used delaying tactics and prolonged the issue. Further it claimed that Kashmir is an integral part of India. It entered huge forces in Kashmir. The issue is still pending.

6- Pak-India wars

Pakistan and India are spending most of their budget on Defence. They have fought three wars in 1948, 1965 and 1971. There has always been Tussle and tension on borders between them. They are spending most of their budget on arms and ammunition. Both have become atomic powers but their public is not enjoying high living standard.

7- Water issue and Indus water treaty

Most of our rivers come from Indian Territory. India created shortage of water for Pakistan to destroy its agriculture and economy. In 1960, Indus Water Treaty was signed between India and Pakistan. It was brokered by the World Bank. That has helped in solving the problem.

8- Role of India in 1971

Due to our political weaknesses, Pakistan was divided into two parts in 1971. India played a big role in this partition. It provided every kind of political, financial and military help to East Pakistan, it succeeded in its conspiracies and Bangladesh appeared on the map of the world.

9- Simla pact

The Simla pact was signed between Pakistan and India after the war of 1971. It was agreed that the mutual difference would be solved through discussions. The Prisoners of war were released as a result of it.

10- Atomic blasts of India

India conducted atomic explosions in 1974 and became the atomic power. It was a constant threat to Pakistan. So Pakistan also started its atomic program. The nuclear weapons race started and both the countries started spending their huge budget on nuclear programs. India again conducted 5 atomic explosions in 1998.

11- Atomic blasts of Pakistan

In reply to Indian atomic blasts, Pakistan also conducted 5 atomic explosions on 28th May, 1998 and became the first Islamic nuclear power. Pakistan had to make many sacrifices to reach there. But it was necessary to maintain balance of power with India.

12- Kargil war and Washington declaration

Pakistan had a war with India in Kargil in May, 1999. On the advice of the American President, the Indian and Pakistani Prime Ministers met in Washington and signed a ceasefire agreement called Washington declaration.

13- Agra conference

Agra conference was held between the President of Pakistan and Indian Prime Minister in 2001. But the three days dialogue proved unsuccessful. India again proved that it is against total peace between the two countries.

14- SAARC conference

Pakistan has raised Kashmir issue on the platform of SAARC countries. It has laid stress on solving the Kashmir issue. It was discussed that the regional matters and disputes can only be solved by following resolutions of UNO. But India has shown no interest.

15- Conclusion

As a conclusion we can say that Pakistan and India are neighbouring countries but their Armies and even their people are bitter Enemies of each other. Kashmir is the bone of contention between India and Pakistan. They cannot live in peace till Kashmir issue is resolved. This is the great hurdle in their growth and development.

Q:4 Explain the relations between Pakistan and Iran.

Ans: OUTLINE

1. Introduction
2. Beginning of relations
3. Visits of heads of states
4. Baghdad pact
5. Support in wars of 1965 and 1971
6. Istanbul treaty
7. Regional Cooperation for development (RCD)
8. Islamic revolution in Iran
9. Pak- Iran gas pipeline
10. Kashmir issue
11. Support on atomic blasts
12. Conclusion

1-Introduction

Iran is our neighbouring country. It is situated in the South-west of Pakistan. The length of border between Pakistan and Iran is 800 km. Iran is a Muslim country and we have good brotherly relations with Iran.

2-Beginning of relations

After the creation of Pakistan, Iran was the first country to recognize in August 1947. Since then, both countries have grown their friendship to the peak. Being Islamic countries both are linked with religious and cultural relations.

3- Visits of heads of states

The prime minister of Pakistan visited Iran in 1949. The shah of Iran also visited Pakistan in 1950. Both countries established trade and cultural relations.

4-Baghdad pact

Pakistan and Iran signed a defence treaty with turkey, Iraq and Britain. It is called Baghdad pact. This Treaty brought Pakistan and Iran very close to each other.

5-Support on Kashmir issue

Iran has always supported the stand of Pakistan on Kashmir issue. It strongly favours the right of self-determination of Kashmiri people. It has also raised voice against the cruelties of Indian army in Kashmir.

6-Support in wars of 1965 and 1971

Iran openly supported Pakistan in wars of 1965 and 1971. It provided political, moral, financial and military aid to Pakistan. The support of Iran was very encouraging for Pakistan.

7-Istanbul treaty

Pakistan, Iran and Turkey signed Istanbul Treaty for mutual cooperation. This Treaty opened the path of more and more cooperation in many different fields. 8-regional cooperation for development (RCD) In 1964, Pakistan, Iran and turkey formed RCD regional cooperation for development. On this platform, they announced to provide complete help for mutual development. RCD is now known as ECO (Economic Cooperation Organization) with the member countries.

9-Islamic revolution in Iran

In 1979, there was Islamic revolution in Iran. Pakistan immediately recognized the new Islamic Revolutionary government and provided every support to Iran.

10-Pak-Iran gas pipeline

Pakistan and Iran have made an agreement to lay a gas pipeline from Iran to Pakistan. The work is in progress. It will help Pakistan to control energy crisis.

11-Kashmir issue

Iran has always supported the stand of Pakistan on Kashmir , it has always favoured the right of self-determination of Kashmiri people.

12-Support on atomic blasts

When Pakistan made atomic blasts, Irani officials visited Pakistan to congratulate us. It has always favoured the policy of Pakistan on the nuclear issue.

13-Conclusion

As a conclusion we can say that Pakistan and Iran have established very close friendly and brotherly relations since the creation of Pakistan. They support every stand of each other at the international forums.

Q:5 Analyse the relations between Pakistan and Afghanistan.

Ans: OUTLINE

1. Introduction
2. Beginning of relations
3. Durand line
4. Land-locked country
5. Russian invasion
6. Role in Afghan- Russian war
7. Afghan refugees

8. Geneva Accord
9. Taliban rule
10. Attack of America on Afghanistan
11. Conclusion

1. Introduction

Afghanistan is our neighbouring Muslim Country. Being an Islamic Country, we have religious, historical, cultural and traditional relations with Afghanistan. The history of the Muslims in the sub-continent has a great impact of Afghan rulers of different times.

2. Beginning of relations

In the very beginning, Pakistan did not have pleasant relations with Afghanistan. Afghanistan recognized Pakistan very late. It also opposed the membership of Pakistan in United Nations. The diplomatic relations started in February, 1948.

3. Durand line

Pak-Afghan International border is called Durand line. It was decided to be international border in 1893. The UNO and Afghanistan also accept it as international border.

4. Land-locked country

Afghanistan is a land-locked country. It does not have any access to the sea. So it faces huge problems in carrying out its international trade. So Pakistan provides the trade route to Afghanistan through its sea. In this way Pakistan has great importance for Afghanistan.

5. Russian invasion

There was an army revolution in Afghanistan in 1978. Afghan government used Russian Army for crushing the opposition. So Russia entered its forces in Afghanistan in 1979. It created International problems. Afghan Mujahideens started Jihad against Russian forces. Pakistan played a key role in Afghanistan at that time.

6. Role in Afghan- Russian war

Pakistan played a key role in Afghan - Russia war. We supported Afghan Mujahideens and provided them every kind of political, financial and military help, resulting in the withdrawal of Russian Forces from Afghanistan.

7. Afghan refugees

In Afghan - Russia war, 30 lacs Afghans left their country and took refuge in Pakistan. Pakistan managed this huge number of Refugees on humane ground with Islamic spirit. We provided them shelter, food and every kind of help.

8. Geneva Accord

In 1988, a treaty was signed between America and Russia. Russia announced to withdraw its forces from Afghanistan. It is called Geneva accord. Pakistani Prime Minister Muhammad Khan Junejo also signed that treaty.

9. Taliban rule

After Russia left Afghanistan, religious Taliban set up their rule in Afghanistan and Pakistan immediately recognized that. But there was a continuous war among different Afghan groups.

10. Attack of America on Afghanistan

On 11th September, 2001, World Trade Centre tragedy took place. America got the excuse to attack Afghanistan. Again, Pakistan played a key role in the war, Taliban government was dismissed. Pakistan recognized new Afghan Government and helped in reconstruction of Afghanistan.

11. Conclusion

As a conclusion we can say that Afghanistan has not been in good terms with Pakistan in different periods. But Pakistan has been providing them every kind of support. We always wish to see a strong political government in Afghanistan.

Q:9 Describe Pakistan's relations with Saudi Arabia.

Ans: OUTLINE

1. Pakistan and Saudi Arabia
2. Holy places of the Muslims
3. Support to Saudi Arabia
4. Role in Indo-Pak wars
5. Kashmir issue
6. Construction work
7. Second Islamic conference
8. Support on Internal issues
9. Middle East crisis
10. Pak- Saudi economic Commission
11. Conclusion

1. Pakistan and Saudi Arabia

Pakistan has very strong ties with Saudi Arabia. After the creation of Pakistan, Saudi Arabia immediately recognized Pakistan. Since then both countries are in strong relations. Both have religious, cultural and historical harmony.

2. Holy places of the Muslims
The holy places of the Muslims are situated in Saudi Arabia. Being a Muslim country, Pakistan has spiritual attachment with Saudi Arabia. Thousands of Pakistanis go there to perform Hajj every year.

3. Support to Saudi Arabia

Pakistan has provided valuable technical support to Saudi Arabia. Has helped to modernize its Army. Pakistan is also helping in developing many industries in Saudi Arabia. We also provide them professional training.

4. Role in Indo-Pak wars

Saudi Arabia openly provided financial support to Pakistan in Indo-Pak wars of 1965 and 1971. It strongly stood by Pakistan in that critical situation and supported the stand of Pakistan.

5. Kashmir issue

Saudi Arabia has always favoured The Stand of Pakistan on Kashmir at every International forum. It supports the right of self-determination of the people of Kashmir. It is against the violence done by Indian army in Kashmir.

6. Construction work

Shah Faisal of Saudi Arabia constructed Faisal mosque and International Islamic University in Islamabad with huge money. This is the sign of love of Saudi Arabia with Pakistan.

7. Second Islamic conference

The second Islamic conference was held in Pakistan. Shah Faisal provided full cooperation in holding the conference in Pakistan.

8. Support on issues

Saudi Arabia supported the view point of Pakistan on Afghan issue. It also favours Pakistan on Kashmir issue on every international forum.

9. Middle East crisis

During Middle East crisis in 1991, Pakistan provided Full support to Saudi Arabia. We practically helped it in that crisis. Pakistan sent its army for the protection of the holy places.

10. Pak- Saudi economic Commission

In 1998, Pak-Saudi economic Commission was set up in Riyadh. It provided financial help in 155 different fields for the development of Pakistan.

11. Conclusion

As a conclusion we can say that Pakistani Nation has spiritual attachment with Saudi Arabia due to the holy places. We have very strong and brotherly relations with it. Both countries have very deep friendly and brotherly relations.

Q:11 Describe Pakistan's relations with America.

Ans: OUTLINE

1. Introduction
2. Beginning of relations
3. Liaquat Ali Khan's tour to America
4. Agreement of cooperation
5. Ayub Khan visits to America
6. Cooperation in Afghan - Russia war
7. Visit of general Zia -ul-Haq
8. Nuclear program of Pakistan
9. Junejo's visits to America
10. Financial aid
11. Tour of Benazir Bhutto
12. Pressler ordinance
13. Brown Amendment
14. World Trade Centre tragedy
15. Conclusion

The significance of Pak-America relation is unanimously acknowledged.

1. Introduction

After the creation of Pakistan, Russia invited Pakistan but Liaquat Ali Khan preferred the tour of America. Since then Pakistan has fluctuating relations with America. Here we will discuss Pak America relations in details.

2. Beginning of relations

In 1948, the American ambassador presented his credentials to Quaid-e-Azam and assured him of American goodwill and friendship.

3. Liaquat Ali Khan's tour to America

On the invitation of American president Truman, the Pakistan Prime Minister Liaquat Ali Khan went to America in 1950. America extended military and financial help to Pakistan.

4. Agreement of cooperation

In 1955, American and Pakistani representatives signed an agreement of mutual cooperation. Pakistan became hopeful for getting cooperation in the fields of construction and designing

5. Ayub Khan visits to America

In 1961, president Ayub Khan visited America for five days and met President Kennedy. America assured him help in 2nd Five Year plan. It also assured him of the help of its allies.

6. Cooperation in Afghan -Russia war

Russia attacked Afghanistan in 1979. Pakistan and America opposed the Russian act and made joint efforts to help the Afghan cause.

7. Visit of general Zia -ul- Haq

On the invitation of President Reagan, Gen. Zia-ul-Haq visited America in 1982. They signed agreements and America provided the first installment of F-16 aircrafts.

8. Nuclear program of Pakistan

The American Senate passed a bill in 1985 against nuclear weapons preparing countries. But America exempted Pakistan for a year.

9. Junejo's visits to America

In 1986, Pakistani Prime Minister Muhammad Khan Junejo visited America. An agreement was signed to transfer sensitive technology to Pakistan, but not for the use in nuclear program.

10. Financial aid

America sanctioned 3.2 billion dollars aid to Pakistan in 1986. A large part of this aid was reserved for military arms.

11. Tour of Benazir Bhutto

In 1998, Prime Minister Benazir Bhutto went to America. She brought more improvement in Pak -America relations.

12. Pressler ordinance

Under Pressler ordinance, America discontinued financial aid and supply of weapons due to our nuclear program. Later it lifted the sanctions on economic aid.

13. Brown Amendment

President Bill Clinton approved Brown Amendment. So the military and economic aid was released for Pakistan.

14. World Trade Centre tragedy

After the terrorist attack on World Trade Centre (9/11), America attacked Afghanistan. Pakistan fully supported America.

15. Conclusion

In these ten years America has given billion-dollar loan to Pakistan in long lasting projects. Due to Afghan-American war we have become the victim of terrorism.